Terrific Hail And Rain Storm Sweeps Path In County

Heavy Damage In Farm District By Queer Storm

Eastern End Of County Is Hit By Terrific Storm On Thursday

CROPS LAID LOW; TREES BLOWN OVER

Buildings And Autos Also Damaged—Terrific Hail Storm

Sweeping through the eastern portion of the county in a belt running from northwest to southeast, the Storm King played havoc with crops Thursday evening, punctured automobile tops, ruined paper roofing and left a path of devastation in his wake.

It was one of the queerest storms in years in this county. About seven o'clock in the evening a heavy wind rose, followed by rain and then hail. Standing corn was ripped to shreds, beans and tomatoes, melons and other low growing crops were laid flat on the ground and then riddled with the hail, cabbage looked as though it had been dressed with a curry comb, and the loss will run into some thousands of dollars.

Lakewood District Hit

The district in and around Lakewood, and from there on through to Rose Point was hit especially hard. The farms of R. L. McCreary, Charles Gardner, E. J. Reiber and John Lukatch were apparently directly in the path of the hail storm and today their crops are practically ruined. Many homes had glass broken in the window panes among them the home of Mrs. C. J. Baker near Lakewood. Many paper roofs on buildings owned by John Rung of Lakewood were punctured and the dance hall at the resort was nearly flooded with water that came through after the hail had drilled holes.

Near Rose Point, Attorney Charles G. Martin and George Cooper report much damage to automobiles left standing outside overnight and roof menders will have work today.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

It now appears that the Smith building (on the public square, rear) was erected just 55 years ago. For B. G. Coates, now tearing the block down for Uncle Sam's new postoffice, found another brick yesterday, carrying John L. Hays' name and the date of 1877. That was the second souvenir brick uncovered.

There have been storm clouds hovering over New Castle since time first began but seldom have clouds like the ferocious-looking formations of last night been seen. They seem to shelter wind, rain and plenty of electrical flashes. Did you notice the clouds before the storm broke?

And another bright spot in New Castle's business firmament has been discovered. From a reliable source Pa Newc learned today that local freight hauks over several railroads here have increased decidedly.

With August comes another popular vacation month, and the exodous of travelers that Pa Newc' family may see during the next few weeks may be larger than those during June and July. To many August seems the most suitable time to hie away on pleasure trips.

Outlying districts of New Castle had last evening one of the most terrific hailstorms in years. Automobiles caught in the heavy downfall were heavily damaged, glass and motometers being broken and paint

Tammany Hall's Mayor May Lose Job If Seabury Charges Are Upheld

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—Faced with the possibility that his decision may have an important bearing on the presidential campaign, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today began a careful study of Mayor James J. Walker's sweeping denial of the charges filed by Samuel Seabury in demanding removal of the Tammany mayor.

Some of Roosevelt's advisors are convinced that the question of whether he will carry New York state in the presidential battle hangs in the balance if Walker is ousted.

Merits of Case

Roosevelt has made it plain, however, that he will deal with the charges without regard to politics, and that the final decision will be rendered strictly on the merits of the case.

He takes the position that he is sitting in the case as the state's chief magistrate as well as governor, and he intends to judge Mayor Walker on the cold, hard facts.

EVACUATION OF BONUS ARMY CAMPS PERMANENT

Chief Of Staff, Gen. Douglass MacArthur Says Camps Are Done

Further Leniency Will Not Be Shown Towards Bonus Marchers

By HOBART C. MONTEE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 29.—All members of the Bonus Expeditionary Force who have not yet taken the hint of the U. S. Army to move off federal property in the District of Columbia will be forcibly ejected, General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, declared today.

Not only that, but the army will remain in command of those areas which are evacuated and will see that the men of the bonus ranks do not move back, he said.

This latter assertion appeared superfluous, as the camps which were cleared at point of bayonet and with generous application of tear gas bombs yesterday were mere smoking shambles today.

No Further Leniency

In any event, MacArthur declared, the time for dealing with the Bonus veterans with gloved hands is over. He said their concentration here had led to a very real threat to the stability of government in the Dis-

A large number of citizens have also paid their school taxes during the past few days and City Treasurer McClung said today that Monday he will have a good check on the amount of school taxes paid to the city to save the discount.

East Side Feels Wrath Of Storm

Vogan Street Substation Twice Subjected To Bolts

From an electrical standpoint the storm last night was probably the most severe that New Castle has had this year. While confined to a relatively small area it caused a number of lightning hits which taxed the distribution facilities of the Pennsylvania Power Company.

Cascade substation on Vogan avenue, which is the source of supply for the east side of New Castle, and a large rural section east of New Castle, was twice subjected to severe bolts of lightning which caused interruptions to the area served from the station amounting to about fifteen minutes each.

In addition the line and substation departments of the company were kept busy replacing transformer fuses along the distribution lines which were burned out as the result of the many heavy lightning surges on the lines.

Brief interruptions occurred in other sections of this territory, but the majority of the trouble was centered on the east side, and the effects of the storm were almost negligible in the other divisions of the Pennsylvania Power Company.

Pinchot Signs Relief Measure

Bill Permitting Political Subdivisions To Make Emergency Loans Becomes Law

McELWEE BILL IS VETOED BY PINCHOT

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 29.—The first bill introduced in the present special session of the legislature today became a law by the affixing of Gov. Gifford Pinchot's signature. It permits political subdivision to make emergency loans, not exceeding their uncollected delinquent taxes, for unemployment relief.

In a statement at the time of signing the bill the governor said he did so "with great pleasure" and termed it one of the "two most essential relief bills" which the session has considered. The other bill to which he referred is the proposed amendment to the constitution which would permit a $25,000,000 bond issue to have the commonwealth shoulder the burden of unemployment relief by repaying districts in which such loans had been floated.

Passage of the amendment, the governor said, will be a real step to "meet the perilous situation in which the commonwealth finds itself."

McElwee Bill Vetoed

On the ground that it attempted to regulate "in a piece-meal way" the distribution of funds for unemployment relief, the governor vetoed a bill sponsored by Rep. McElwee, Lawrence, which would have permitted political subdivisions to undertake improvement project as unemployment relief measures. Such expenditures later would be refunded, the bill provided, from the proposed $25,000,000 bond issue.

In addition to other objections which the governor found in the McElwee measure he asserted that it did not come under the call convening the session.

The governor signed the bill which repealed the $25,000 appropriation for Pennsylvania's participation in the proposed Chicago exposition.

President Orders Investigation Of Clashes By Grand Jury

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Investigation of the evacuation of the 12,000 bonus marchers from their camps, was demanded today by President Hoover, while the veterans and their families were still trudging aimlessly about the suburbs of the District of Columbia.

Into the clash which led to one death and 66 injured, the inquiry is to be conducted by the District grand jury at the request of Attorney General William D. Mitchell.

The Mitchell statement, released at the Department of Justice read:

"In response to the President's direction to the Attorney General to inquire into the recent disorders in the city, the Supreme Court of the district has been requested to lay the subject forthwith before the Grand Jury now in session."

Meanwhile an army of steel helmeted federal troops maintained virtual martial law in the capital. As torches set fire to the remaining hovels, the bonus expeditionary forces called home.

Youthful Bandits Confess To Police

Two Youthful Bandits Captured After Running Gun Battle Near Connellsville

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 29—Ralph Simpson and William Meredith, two 18 year old McKeesport youths captured yesterday after a running gun battle with state and local police today were removed to Fayette county jail at Uniontown, following an alleged confession by one of the bandits.

Meredith, police reported today, confessed that he and Simpson and two other companions, Calvin Russell 25, and Ray Patrick, 20, both of McKeesport and still at large, bound and gagged J. W. Sailor, 68, farmer resident back of Dunbar, in the hope of finding some part of $2500 believed hidden in the house.

Surprised at their work by visitors at the aged man's home, they bound Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brymer and their partially-blind son, and escaped with $1.60 in cash, a rifle and a shotgun. Brymer was severely beaten.

Bolivian Fort Is Under Attack

(International News Service)
LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 29.—The Bolivian government today again announced one of its forts had been attacked by Paraguayan troops, despite assurances by Paraguay that her forces would not engage in any aggressive or hostile acts.

In a cable to Secretary of State Stimson in Washington the government declared a Paraguayan detachment attacked Fort Florida in the disputed Chaco region last Monday, wounding a Bolivian guard.

The Paraguayans were defeated and driven back with several casualties.

GOVERNOR SUPPORTS INCOME TAX MEASURE

Pinchot Urges Legislators To Pass Two Bills

Governor Fights For Income Tax Measure And $50,000,000 Road Bond Issue

SCHOOL OFFICIALS AID IS ENLISTED

HARRISBURG, July 29—Although neither measure was included in the agreed program of 14 points, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today mailed broadcast throughout the state an appeal by which he hopes to force passage of an income tax measure and the $50,000,000 road bond issue before the special session of the legislature adjourns.

The proposed income tax measure is supported by school authorities who realize the present expenditures have reached a sum where curtailment is inevitable. An income tax, the entire proceeds of which would be used to continue expansion of the school program, would lighten the burden of school taxes on real estate, its backers assert.

School Officials Aid

The governor's letter, sent to all employes of the public school system, urged them to support the proposed amendment to the constitution which would permit a graduated income tax. The legislation would carry provisions so as to exempt all farmers and school employes and it is believed they can be enlisted as a unit behind the legislation.

The other measure which the governor's letters said should be passed is the proposed amendment for a $50,000,000 bond issue for road building.

Golfers who were out on the Municipal course last evening reported a curious phenomenon, as a thunder storm passed around just to the east. As the storm neared, the air turned cooler, and for a short period, blew alternately hot and cold. The contrast was most startling, those who experienced it report.

Although the hail storm of last evening was concentrated on the East Brook vicinity, the Y. W. C. A. camp did not receive any serious damage. A tree at the rear of the camp blew down and that was about the extent of the damage.

Cows Bring Lion Home To Hunter

(International News Service)

CAHONE, Colo., July 29.—Lewis J. Risenhoover, a rancher living three miles from Cahone, has some of the best hunting cows in these parts.

Some hunters, of course, prefer dogs, but Risenhoover believes his cows can bring home the big game just as effectively.

Recently when he went out for the cows at sundown, he said, they came running toward him madly, a mountain lion in pursuit. The cows led the lion to a point near Risenhoover's home, where the dogs treed it. Risenhoover then got his big game rifle and shot the animal through the head. The lion measured six feet, three inches from tip to tip.

governor are convinced that while his candidacy might suffer in New York state through the ousting of Walker, it would be materially enhanced in many other states, particularly in the South and West.

Political Fodder

The Roosevelt camp is well aware of the fact that regardless of what disposition is made of the charges against Mayor Walker, the Republicans are planning to make political capital out of it in the forthcoming campaign.

If the governor dismisses the charges, the G. O. P. campaign orators will picture him as being afraid to incur the wrath of the Tammany tiger, according to information reaching the Roosevelt camp.

On the other hand if Roosevelt removes Walker the Republicans will attempt to drive a wedge deep between the governor and Tammany, and will insist that he was forced to take such action only because the Republican legislature ordered the investigation.

Extensive Reply

ALBANY, N Y., July 29.—In a reply of 30,000 words, Mayor James J. Walker of New York emphatically denied charges of "official dishonesty and corruption" lodged with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt by Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Hofstadter legislative committee.

He asked the accusations leading to a demand for his removal be dismissed, denied any wrongdoing, and included a stinging attack on Seabury, who, he charged, made him a victim of a "manhunt" and a "political football."

After categorically denying the charges Seabury, as a private citizen, submitted to Roosevelt, Walker disputed also the accusations made by James E. Finegan heading a group of independent Democrats, and by the committee of 1,000.

Six of Seabury's charges, he maintained, should be entirely thrown out, and four partially, because they dealt with occurrences during his first term in office.

Finds New Method To Trisect Angle

(International News Service)

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 29.—Douglas E. Bunker has devised a mechanical method of trisecting an angle, Grays Harbor mathematicians believe.

Those who inspected Bunker's method are loud in their praise of his accomplishment.

Using only a pair of dividers and an undergraduate straight-edge, Bunker has demonstrated his ability to trisect any angle up to 90 degrees.

According to experts, angles divisible by three have been accurately trisected in the past but when they are not divisible the trisector runs into trouble. Bunker's plan apparently is mechanically perfect, as hundreds of angles trisected by him were measured and found to be accurate.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN FARM DISTRICT BY QUEER STORM

Trees were uprooted, branches of others broken off, and the leaves hurled with such force against buildings that they stuck as though plastered there.

Some of the early corn will be saved inasmuch as the ears are nearly ripe. The late corn seems to be nearly a total loss as the pollen was torn off the stalks, the ears ripped loose and the blades shredded.

Uproots 25 Trees

On the J. R. Bartsch farm, near East Brook, the storm wrought havoc, twenty five large trees were uprooted, the roof of the barn was torn off, the electric wires were twisted about the poles and the telephone service was cut off. Half the corn in the fields was completely destroyed and for several minutes the family thought the house was going to be torn from its foundation but the only damage done to the house was several windows broken.

All the stock was in the barn for the night and no damage was done to the animals.

Cow Is Killed

A young Guernsey cow, owned by Jacob Bakuhm, was killed by lightning at about 7:30 p. m. one mile from East Brook.

The cow, valued at about $75 was standing about ten feet from a large tree in the pasture field of the Bakuhm property. The bolt of lightning was drawn by the tree and glanced off to the cow, causing almost instant death. Mr. Bakuhm was just starting to the pasture to bring in the animal at the time the lightning struck. The hail drove down every stalk of his corn crop.

Motorists on the Perry highway in the vicinity of Portersville felt the full brunt of last night's storm. That was one of the numerous points east of New Castle to feel the full force of the downpour.

Herb Samuels, who spends the summer months at his cottage at Lakewood Beach, salvaged some of the large hail stones that fell during the storm at that place last night, and this morning brought in a milk bottle in which he had placed some of them. They were still the size of marbles and solidly frozen. He also scooped up sufficient of the hailstones to almost fill his ice chest and the ice chamber was half full of excellent frozen ice this morning.

Chauncey Davis, city sanitary officer, reported this morning that the immense hailstones that fell at Lakewood Beach last night made at least 50 holes in the top of his car. He is compelled to get a new top on his machine.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne had quite a time of it last night while motoring in running into the heavy hailstorm that occurred in two rather far apart sections of the county. The first instance was in the vicinity of New Wilmington, and on arriving at Lakewood Beach some time later he again met with the hailstorm. Some of the hail stones, he stated, were the largest and most peculiarly shaped that he had ever seen.

"The gentleness and consideration with which they had been treated had been mistaken for weakness and they had become convinced that they were about to take over the reins of government, by direct methods or by indirect methods.

"In my opinion, if the President had not taken the firm action he did, if he had allowed another week to pass, our government would have been threatened. I would say he had reached the end of patience, that he had gone to the very limit before he used force. And if he had not used it at that time, he would have been a sad day for the city tomorrow."

Deaths of the Day

Earl Book Funeral.

Gorgeous floral tributes were banked to the ceiling in the Book home, 337 Park avenue, as hundreds passed the bier of Earl Eugene Book, prominent young funeral director of the city, who so suddenly departed from this life Monday evening of this week.

Impressive funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the family home with Dr. A. J. Randles, former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, with which Mr. Book was affiliated all his life, in charge. Dr. Randles read the scripture lesson and delivered the funeral sermon, paying a glowing tribute to the high ideals, uplifted purposes and straightforward living of Mr. Book and his splendid work in the community.

Dr. S. C. Gamble of Butler, a former pastor of the Second church, who had known Mr. Book in his childhood, gave a consoling message to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton Methodist church, gave the funeral prayer.

The Book-Leyde quartet, which was organized by Mr. Book, sang two of his favorite numbers: "When They Ring Those Bells" and "In The Sweet By And By". The quartet is composed of Ted Stritmater, David Jones, Trevor West and Willard McCown.

As the members of the Lions Club, of which Mr. Book was a past president, formed two lines he was borne from the home and to his last resting place in Graceland cemetery and the funeral directors of Lawrence county acted as flower bearers.

Pallbearers were John Morgan, Harry Galbreath, Charles Sankey, Harry Galbraith, Winfred Quigley, Russell Muder and Dewayne Glenn, members of Mr. Book's Sunday School class.

Mrs. Quinn Funeral.

James L. Rocks.

James L. Rocks, prominent insurance man of the city, passed away Friday, July 29, at 6 a. m. at the family residence, 106 West Garfield avenue, following an extended illness due to complications. Mr. Rocks was widely known and held in the highest esteem in the business, civic and religious life of the community. His death comes as a shock to his many friends.

New Organization Is Being Planned

Waters Says Bonus Army Will Make Headquarters At Johnstown

By EDWARD O. MAYL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Out of the defeated Bonus Army will rise a national organization to be known as the Khaki Shirts, Walter W. Waters, leader of the evicted Bonus Expeditionary Forces declared here today as he reviewed the events of the past 24 hours, and laid plans for the future.

Headquarters for this organization will be established at Johnstown, Pa., Waters said, where harbor has been proferred by Eddie McCloskey, mayor of the Pennsylvania town.

Enroute To Johnstown

Hundred of veterans evicted from Camp Marks, and the smaller concentrations of the Capital, are enroute to Johnstown, this morning, Waters said, to begin the work of organizing the Khaki Shirts.

The organization, Waters said, would be patterned after the Gray Shirts of Germany, the Black Shirts (Fascisti) Italy. The purpose of the organization he plans will be to take from the moneyed interests the power which they have wielded so long with present results.

"We have gone too far to quit now," said the Oregon veteran who led his contingent across the country and formed the nucleus of the 17,000 World War veterans who visited the Capital to demand payment of their adjusted compensation certificates.

"We have been driven from Washington," he said, "but we will continue the fight for justice for the veterans and the common people of the United States."

Waters said the men got completely out of his control yesterday when eviction orders were carried out.

But 4 Left Of Famed Confederate Group

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas, July 29.—With the recent death of G. W. Stephenson here, the almost legendary private escort of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, famous cavalry leader of the confederate army, has dwindled to but four survivors, three of whom live in Tennessee and one in Texas.

The lone Texan is Henry D. of Grapevine, near here. Those residing in Tennessee are: Rev. T. C. Little, Jim Shoftner and Bob Garrett.

terms, from 1918 to 1926, when he was named assistant superintendent.

Prior to his election as county superintendent he had served as principal of the North Beaver township high school, going there from Princeton where he had served as principal of the high school at that place. He had also been principal at Wampum and was president of Volant college for a time, besides teaching in different county elementary and high schools.

Born In Mercer County.

He was born November 22, 1872 at Fredonia, Mercer county, the son of Amos and Elizabeth Ball, deceased. After completing his education in the Fredonia public school, he entered Fredonia Institute and later attended Volant college and Mt. Union college.

He began teaching school early in life and was held in high regard as an educator, not only in the local district, but in state educational circles as well. His death will be regretted by a great many residents of the county with whom he had come in contact through the school system, his earnestness of purpose and sterling character endearing him to all who knew him.

Mr. Ball leaves two sons, Edwin J., of Mt. Jackson, and Gerald E., of Ellwood City, a teacher in Shenango township high school. His wife, Martha Ayers Ball preceded him in death on January 11, 1931.

In addition, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Donaldson of Oakland, Calif.; and the following brothers: H. K. and J. O. Ball of Seattle, Washington; R. O. Ball of Tacoma, Washington; and A. E. Ball of Fredonia, Pa.

He was a member of Mahoning Lodge, F. and A. M. and the New Castle Consistory, and was an active member of the Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed as yet and will be announced later.

OMITTING THE FRILLS

EXTRACTION of the froth and frills from the presidential campaign was decided upon by the Republican managers not because they are opposed to large campaign funds but because a large campaign fund is virtually out of the question this year. Big business is broke and most moneyed individuals will find the slashing of their campaign contributions one of the easiest of economies. What money does trickle into the war chests will be prudently spent.

Slated to go, among other things, are the traditional campaign buttons and the motor plates and similar gadgets and geegaws on which thousands were joyously spent in other years.

Thus does it come to pass that the campaign button is condemned to follow the torch and oilcloth cape of the old time torchlight procession into the limbo of discarded things. The coat lapels of the enthusiasts will seem bare without them.

A thrifty, dollar-saving campaign is good politics this year. The voters are talking and thinking economy and would look with suspicion upon extravagance. They want a party in power that is first in economy, last in waste and least in the pockets of its countrymen.

The Republican managers are proceeding on the theory that this campaign of all campaigns will be an appeal to reason, rather than to the emotions. Instead of a circus it will be a school and debate. And it is the big show that runs into the big money.

TREASURE FROM THE SEA

Until 10 years ago it was believed that no diver could safely descend much more than 200 feet below the surface of the sea. The work of James Hooper at the wreck of the Cape Horn off South America in 204 feet of water was considered remarkable at the time.

Since then the metal diving suit has come into use, and in 1925 a German diver spent two hours in such a suit of armor at a depth of 460 feet, later descending to 525 feet without serious inconvenience.

Modern deep-sea diving suits are miniature submarines, built of heavy metal to withstand terrific pressures. They have made possible the salvaging of rich prizes from the ocean floor and hold forth the promise of eventual recovery of fabulous wealth whose owners, as they saw it go to the bottom, believed it had passed forever beyond the hand of man.

Even now Italian divers are working in 400 feet of water off the French coast in an attempt to recover $5,000,000 in gold and silver from the liner Egypt, which sank in 1922. The miracle they plan to perform is to carve the 65-ton bullion room from the ship and lift it with its contents to the surface.

Something seems to tell us that some future generation with a still better diving suit will glean some historical facts and claim a reward in precious metals and gems from those Spanish treasure ships which sank centuries ago to leave a heritage of legends that have never been improved upon.

TO ADVERTISE OR NOT TO ADVERTISE

Gilbert T. Hodges has facts and figures to prove that it pays to advertise even in times of economic distress.

Hodges is president of the Advertising Federation of America, which has completed a study of the seventeen-year records of 120 corporations. Sixty of these corporations annually increased their advertising expenditures in spite of depressions at an average of 16 per cent over the previous year.

Hodges first took up the cases of the sixty concerns which enlarged their advertising.

"Seventeen years ago, many of these sixty companies were small," he said. "Today every one of them is numbered among the foremost business houses of America. They have multiplied their net assets to four times what they were seventeen years ago.

"Last year their combined net profits were three times greater than in the comparatively good year of 1915. This dramatic testimony to the value of an unbroken advertising policy should bring confidence and inspiration to executives who want tangible proof that a courageous program, even in these difficult times, will pay.

"Now let us look at the other side of the picture—the dark side. Let us see what happened to the other sixty companies, the ones that pursued an erratic and unchartered course.

"When times were good they plunged heavily. When the going became difficult they tightened their purse strings.

'But this policy didn't work. Seventeen years ago every one of the sixty firms in this erratic group was an important national business. Today more than half of them have lost that position of importance. Many have perished."

BUTLER'S FLOP

We fail to see any good reason why Gen. Smedley D. Butler should jump the Republican ticket this year. He may feel peeved at President Hoover for some of his own peculiar reasons, but what guaranty has he that Roosevelt could have done any better? And we would credit Butler with sufficient intelligence to resist any popular demand for a change. Let those who do not think have a monopoly of that, says the Oil City Derrick.

The fact is commencing to dawn on the country that Mr. Hoover has had a pretty tough time of it. He has had to face problems almost as great as those which confronted President Wilson before, during and following the World War. Nor did the immortal Lincoln have more to worry him. For the past two years the nation has been forced to face conditions quite as perplexing as any which have arisen in its history.

Were we at war with an alien enemy the president would have behind him the united support of the nation. When patriotism is whipped up to the point of emotionalism and "service" becomes the national watchward, tremendous things can be done. Mr. Hoover has not had the benefit of this support. This year may credit him with a record of accomplishment which has had few parallels. The country has stood up nobly under the impact of mighty economic forces.

If Mr. Hoover has any weakness it lies in his lack of appeal to popular imagination. He has not the fighting qualities of Theodore Roosevelt, the intellectual brilliancy of Woodrow Wilson or the Yankee reserve of Calvin Coolidge. The president is a worker, not a showman.

We can conceive of no good reason why Butler should flop this year unless it be for the sake of demonstrating his rather quixotic nature. As a political entity he is just not there.

If that drug, which makes the user divulge his whole past, is new, after-dinner speakers have been using something just as good for generations.

All Of Us

Can You Be "Yourself"?
It's Not Always Wise
It Depends on the Self

By MARSHALL MASLIN

You're always hearing that the only way to be happy is to Be Yourself.

That then's the only time when you're at ease and happy and have that rich feeling of enjoying life to the fullest.

Well, I don't know.

Sometimes that rule works and sometimes it doesn't.

The trouble is that we aren't the same all through. Our biggest strawberries are on the top of the basket. We have some gold in us, but a lot of us is useless gravel. . . . If you start out to be yourself you must first decide which self you intend to be.

You have many selves and you know that very well. One self is tender and kind. Another is brutal and callous. One is wise, another is foolish. One is careless, another is careful. One hopes for the best, another for the worst. One is envious, the other rejoices in the good fortune of friends. One is trustful, the other has green eyes. One is calm, one is like an ocean in a storm. One is restful, the other throws itself on the floor and screams a howling tantrum.

Be yourself and where do you land? On the rocks or on a soft feather cushion?

I've tried that business of being myself and sometimes it has turned out beautifully, but sometimes I've bumped my nose and been kicked in the shins for it.

If you are going to be yourself all the time you must grow a skin so thick that it would make a rhinoceros jealous. You must make up your mind that you will do as you please without regard for the rights or feelings of your neighbors. Sometimes you will make them happy, but the next day you may break their hearts. It will be fun for you, but not for them.

It may be a good idea for you to Be Yourself, but it depends on the Self. . . . Because, although you may think it's a peach other people may find it is a sour grape.

Once Overs

KEEP CALM

Always hurried and worried—is that you?

Even over the telephone, does your voice take on an impatient tone?

When you ask questions, do you act irritated?

Do you try to anticipate what the person at the other end of the line will say?

But you have talked with those whose calm voice and collected wits are a pleasure of experience.

It gave you the impression of stability, reliability and inspired your confidence to meet and converse with the poised, unruffled sort.

While those of the opposite kind, who jumped to conclusions, led you to doubt good judgment and management—so far as they were concerned.

The serene voice coming over the telephone is a rarity to be appreciated in these days of excitement, social and otherwise.

But it is largely the exercise of self-control and good management to appear cool, collected and unhurried.

Plan more, make fewer unnecessary movements, work with less effort.

Feverish attacks, thoughtlessness, put you behind with your work.

Calm and composed, it is easy to do more with less effort—try it.

THERE ARE MANY THINGS

We would not tolerate except under the tyranny of the crowd.
We would not want if we did not think others wanted them.
We would despise if we were not ashamed to have others know it.
We would laugh about if others did not take them so seriously.
We would fight to the death except for the fear of ridicule.
We would enjoy except for the fear that they are not fashionable.
We would fear except for the courage that other cowards inspire in us.

ASSISTANCE

'Tis not a little thing to be
On hand in just the nick of time
To hear a stranger's whispered plea
And give a hungry man a dime.

A cup of coffee and a roll
Seem scarcely worth a word of praise,
And milk and crackers in a bowl
A trivial dish of happier days.

But to the hungry on the street
Who searches for a friendly eye,
How warm that coffee and how sweet
That roll the proffered dime may buy!

'Tis not a little thing to be
The one among the crowds of men
To hear a hungry brother's plea,
Crackers and milk mean something then.

She says there are over three thousand people who belong to that cult, the principal rule of which is believing in going naked and going naked in spite of the police. Funny man. He kicks because taxes are heavy and demands the right to pay 300 million more tax on beer.

BEER!,

The Germans, who know more about beer and its effects than anybody else, spell it "bier." Due to beer drinking, Germany is the world's largest nation, around the waistline.

Beer causes strong men to weep, and weak men to lift hundred-pound weights. One-half of America needs beer. The other half needles it.

When prohibition came into effect, that is, in effect, the nation turned hopeful eyes on a product known as near beer. This, however, was found to have just as bad a taste as beer, without having any of its desirable effects, such as blowing off the top of one's head, causing the sidewalk to jump up to meet the drinker at every step, or creating a happy dizziness, so nobody would drink the stuff. It merely answered the question of "How far is near?"

After years of experimenting, near beer may now stage a come-back, for it has been discovered that by mixing it with gasoline and three parts of finely ground plaster or stucco, it looks and tastes exactly like the product sold by bootleggers as imported beer.

The process of drinking modern beer is a complex one. First, the drinker sips, causing him to shudder slightly. Then he swallows long and deep, shuddering more violently. This is repeated for three or four glasses, when the drinker begins slowly to revolve. After eight glasses, the drinker floats gently away, followed by his lavender alligators and pink elephants, faithfully marching at his heels.

The chief ingredient of modern home brew beer is sediment. This is due, it is said, to the fact that the brewers are very sedimental about their trade. Others claim the settlings are just crushed Ojus rock mixed in to give full measure, and bring up the weight.

The latest use of beer is as a safety measure on ships at sea. In the event of shipwreck, the passengers simply drink beer until they develop beer stomachs, or paunches. It being well known that a fat person floats easily, it will be seen that the beer-bellied passengers can safely float around until help comes.

Jusserand Had Permanent Place As Friend Of America

Appreciation Of His Eminence As Diplomat And Literary Man Expressed Throughout This Country As Death Ends Career

It is gratifying to Americans to know that words of praise which are being heaped upon the memory of the late Jules Jusserand, for 22 years Ambassador of France to this country, are only repetitions of friendly expressions that went out in large measure to him while he lived in Washington, and followed him overseas when he returned to his native country.

"Though it is now seven years since Jules Jusserand was French Ambassador to our republic, the tidings of his death at his home in Paris bring poignant regret to the American people," says the ATLANTA JOURNAL, as it notes that "he was more to them than a distinguished diplomat; he was an altogether admirable man, and, to those who had the good fortune to know him personally, a most lovable one." Pointing out that, in his tenure of Ambassadorship here, he had "the longest continuous assignment in the history of Washington's diplomatic corps," the SCRANTON TIMES comments: "When the many upsets in government in France are remembered, this long service of itself is a testimonial of Jusserand's diplomacy, his ability to get along with all sorts of people and leaders in his own nation." It is the thought of the PROVIDENCE EVENING BULLETIN that he represented the "Old France," "the grace, the wit, the charm, the high cultural and esthetic values of the France that has been submerged—for the time being, at any rate—by the new, harsh spirit."

"The long-time dean of the diplomatic corps succeeded as perhaps no other ambassador in his time in giving to international relations a warm personal cordiality," declares the MIAMI DAILY NEWS, as it states: "Not only Presidents and cabinet officials but many thousands of men in private life grew to love Jusserand and to see France through kindlier eyes because of him. His name was attached to no outstanding treaty and his modesty made it difficult to measure his influence in world affairs, but with a genius for friendship he established a closer bond between the United States and France than ever was sealed by official document."

How lasting was his interest in America is noted by the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, with the comment: "On April 10 of the present year he was heard over the radio in a farewell message pleading for the friendliness of France and America. But a few days before his passing his thoughts were of this country. Next to his native land he loved America." The ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS feels that "although he expressed regret at the occasional misunderstandings that arose between the two nations, he must have found satisfaction that the foundation of the amity he had created remained secure. With this knowledge he died assured that he produced a spirit of international friendship that will live far beyond him." As the OMAHA WORLD HERALD phrases it: "He knew us. If all Frenchmen knew us as he did, most Frenchmen, we dare say, would think pretty well of us, just as we on our part, if we knew France and Frenchmen, would feel much more warmly towards them than many of us may at this writing."

The foundation of his success was knowledge. Says the LOWELL EVENING LEADER: "Undoubtedly he came to know us better because he was an enthusiastic student of American history. His marriage to an American woman was another tie. In his death France has lost an able and conscientious diplomat and the United States a good friend." The CHARLESTON (W. VA.) DAILY MAIL believes that "the broad and sympathetic understanding of this country which he possessed was a great aid to him in meeting successfully the issues and in steering Franco-American relations safely around the rocks." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL holds that "if all the makers of the worlds' destiny were of the calibre of Ambassador Jusserand there would be little to fear about the future," an opinion shared by the PORT HURON TIMES HERALD, as it remarks: "It would be a fine thing for the world if we could have more men like J. Jules Jusserand filling the diplomatic positions among the nations and directing our national thought and policies." The HOUSTON CHRONICLE notes that "his death comes at a time when relations between his country and your own are a trifle strained as a result of the alleged Franco-British secret pact, and it is to be hoped that both in America and in France the passing of the venerable Ambassador will serve to calm the angry voices of intense and partisan nationalists."

"Scholarship and diplomacy were the two consuming interests in the life of J. Jules Jusserand," declares the NASHVILLE BANNER in calling attention to two expressions of his genius. Characterizing him as "the observer, critic and commentator rather than the creative artist," this paper predicts that "Jusserand's literary work will be more rather than less esteemed as time goes on." Summing up his work in these fields the BALTIMORE SUN says: "M. Jusserand was a man of letters and a literary historian as well as an Ambassador; he was the scholar and critic rather than the creative artist that the present Ambassador, M. Paul Claudel is. And this training in the broad fields of thought and expression—a training which was begun with Taine, with whom Jusserand prepared the last edition of the famous 'History of English literature'—unquestionably gave him an insight into the English and American spirit, its leading ideas and most profound motives, which could not be learned in the longest of purely diplomatic careers. Through these studies he came to believe in a cultural and intellectual unity which in the long run was far more important than any military or diplomatic entente." The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS lists some of his writings: "He began with 'The Theatre in England' from the Conquest to the Immediate Predecessors of Shakespeare." His 'The English of the Middle Ages' (1884) was crowned by the French Academy. The 'History of the English People' (published in three volumes between 1895 and 1909) is standard. In 1911 Jusserand wrote 'Roussard'. Three years later that was followed by his last book 'With Americans of Past and Present Days.'"

The NEW YORK SUN describes him as having had "many accomplishments; he had acquired great learning; his manner and his interests proclaimed ripe culture," but concludes: "These do not explain his success as an Ambassador, though they contributed to it. That success was based on qualities of mind and heart which inspired a feeling no dignity of official place, no distinction of scholarship, could establish." The SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION appraises him as a "fine, courtly, yet simple and unaffected man" who never in all the period of his service here figured "in a single disagreeable incident."

The attitude of America is well expressed by the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, as it says: "The people of the United States stand uncovered at Jean Jules Jusserand's bier, sharing whole heartedly in the sorrow of the France he loved so passionately and served so long and ably." The OAKLAND TRIBUNE adds the hope that "his long efforts for mutual understanding between the two nations will be the guiding spirit in their future diplomatic dealings."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE "CALL"

"Hey, Rube!" is the hoodlums' battle cry. Whether it be on New York's Bowery, on Chicago's North Clark Street, or on San Francisco's Howard Street, the cry of "Hey, Rube!" is sure to collect a crowd of hoodlums intent on engaging in a free-for-all fight. And usually a fight follows without anyone knowing what it is all about. But that does not matter, so long as a man's fighting proclivities are allowed full reign.

In the famous film, "The Birth of a Nation," which has recently been revived with sound accompaniment, the familiar bugle call which signals that a battle is about to begin, is the theme that dominates the introduction of the picture.

To start every fight, whether it be a street row, or a battle of war, there must be a "call".

Forty Miners Escape Blast

Forty Miners Believed Trapped Near Johnstown, Found In Adjoining Mine

PROBE CAUSE OF FATAL EXPLOSION

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 29.—Suspense and fear resulting from a mine explosion, which took two lives and seriously burned two other men, was eased here today when officials of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company announced that 40 men, at first believed trapped, were working in an adjoining section and uninjured by the blast.

Emergency crews, which were rushed to the wrecked pit, were surprised to learn that the 40 workers were unaware of the blast which killed Frank Lawrence, 40, and Harry Cuirco, 38, both of Jerome.

Delbert Parkins, mine boss, and Herbert Geist, both of Jerome, were rushed to a hospital with severe burns. Physicians expressed the belief they would recover.

Probe Blast Cause.

As the inhabitants of the small mining town of Jerome, where the blast occurred, returned to their homes consoled by the fact their husbands and fellow-workmen had not been entombed, inspectors started an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion.

Despite his burns, Parkins revealed that he detected gas upon entering the mine this morning. When he went into the pitt he directed the men to discontinue using an electric loading machine. The blast occurred as soon as the machine was shut off, he said.

Ordinarily, officials said, 150 were employed in the mine. At the time of the detonation, however, only the four were in this section.

Divorce Rate, Marriage Rate, Both Lowered

Fewer Marriages Recorded This Year Than Since 1909, Records Show

HIGH PEAK REACHED DURING YEAR 1920

HARRISBURG, July 29.—The greatest number of weddings that have occurred in Pennsylvania in any one year since records have been kept, was 83,865, and the year was 1920. The year 1917, with its vast number of "war marriages," was also a high rate wedding year. Last year swings down the line almost to the bottom, and records fewer marriages than any other year excepting 1906, 1908 and 1909. The figures for last year stand at 60,160 according to data in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health, now released by Dr. Emlyn Jones.

While the numerous "war marriages" of 1917 increased the normal rate of that year, the high figures of 1920 doubtless include many weddings that would have taken place earlier, had it not been for the World War. Thus it is noted, that general conditions influence the marriage rate.

The year 1931 registered a marked decline in the number of marriages recorded. The year was a time of financial uncertainty, unemployment, and economic instability. Here we find conditions that reduce the trend toward marriage, just as we found conditions that increased it in 1917 and 1920. That the marriage rate is influenced by economic conditions is a recognized fact.

The reduced marriage rate is accompanied by a reduced divorce rate, according to Dr. Jones. With only 7,241 divorces granted in 1931, it is noted that last year was the lowest in that activity since 1922; and almost 800 lower than the preceding year of 1930.

Dr. Jones discusses this situation in the 1931 marriage rate, and says: "The reduction in the number of marriages in 1931 will reflect itself in a lowered birth rate for 1932."

Money Affixed By Senate Committee For Ainey Probe

HARRISBURG, July 29.—By appropriating $150,000 for the expenses of a senate committee, the upper branch of the assembly Thursday gave evidence of its intention to be prepared to carry on an investigation of charges made against two members of the Public Service Commission.

Senate leaders plan to have a special committee hear the Governor's charges both against Chairman W. D. B. Ainey and Emerson Collins. Gov. Gifford Pinchot charges the former with having accepted improper payments from utilities and the latter with being incapacitated for duty on the commission.

Under the present plan the senate will adjourn with the house as soon as the work of the present unemployment session is completed. At the completion of the hearings by the special committee the Governor will convene a special session of the senate to act upon the charges presented to the committee.

Prison Trusty Is Cemetery Ghost

Sings In Vicinity Of Cemetery And Starts Reports Of Ghosts

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., July 29.—William Chrysler, a trusty at the state penitentiary, was identified today as the "ghost" of the Old Convicts' cemetery here.

One of Chrysler's duties was to go to the quarry during the night and shut off the pumps, passing about 400 yards from the graveyard. He entertained himself during the trips by singing, and it was this "chant" which Joliet residents attributed to a disembodied spirit.

Two thousand curious gathered at the cemetery early today to hear the "ghost" singing. They were disappointed, as Chrysler was ordered by prison officials to "keep his mouth shut."

Building construction in Napier, N. Z., which was leveled by an earthquake last year, is being speeded up.

Football Injury Cause Of Death

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 29.—Because he tried to conceal a leg injury received when playing football last fall, Samuel Gindles, 15, of Cairnbrook, died today in Memorial hospital from effects of bone decay that set in shortly before his removal to the hospital in May.

Five blood transfusions failed to save the boy, who had feared his family would bar him from playing if they knew of his injury.

Indian Legend Starts Search For Gold

(International News Service)

GALLUP, N. M., July 29.—An old Indian legend concerning the burial of 27 Spanish soldiers in a mine 64 miles south of here, has led to the reopening of the mine.

Frank George, a graduate of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socoro, learned of the mine from an old Indian whom he nursed thru a sickness.

According to the story, Indian slaves revolted and buried a Spanish priest and 27 soldiers in the mine.

A syndicate of Gallup men has been formed to finance the venture, and George and three companions are attempting to discover the bodies and a rich vein of gold ore which the Spanish are said to have started working before the revolt of their workers.

Maryland Halts Exodus Of Bonus Marchers To That State With Police

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Thousand of bonus marchers were being driven aimlessly about the District of Columbia today, while army and District officials conferred as to the eventual disposition of the homeless veterans and their families.

State police of Maryland have been stationed in heavy detail along the District of Columbia line, and are refusing to allow the veterans to leave the District.

Sheriffs deputies are on duty at the Potomac river bridges in the Virginia counties and are enforcing a simalar rule.

Regular army troops are stationed on the two approaches from Anacostia to Washington, and are refusing to allow the homeless people to leave the Capital suburbs.

As a result the wanderers are being shunted from one spot to another.

Many of them have run the gauntlet of Maryland state police, but thousands of them still remain in the district of Columbia, where they have no shelter, no food, or means to obtain them.

FEDERAL TROOPS ARE IN COMPLETE CONTROL OF CAPITAL SITUATION

vania Avenue, while the 1,500 veterans at Camp Bartlett and Camp Sims moved slowly from these privately-owned sites.

A few veterans continued to reside in rude shacks in the negro quarter near the capital.

No Leaders Found

The veterans also made a showing of maintaining a corps of leaders at their headquarters on S. E. Pennsylvania Avenue, but all efforts to locate anyone in authority failed.

Walter W. Waters, erstwhile commander-in-chief of the B. E. F. remained in the capital, but did not make a public appearance during the day. The Oregon chieftain issued a statement calling upon veterans and "honest citizens" to back a movement of "khaki shirts" with a headquarters at Johnstown, Pa.

While the president and the attorney general arranged with the courts for a grand jury investigation scores of telegrams came to the White House complaining of the method used by the administration to evacuate the bonus seekers. The White House announced the telegrams came from "communist organizations" from all sections of the country.

District commissioners held several conferences with General MacArthur, chief of staff, and attempted to perfect a plan to offer the use of army trucks to transport such veterans as are left, one day's ride from the capital.

Martial Law In Capital.

Washington, July 29.—An army of steel-helmeted federal troops maintained virtual martial law in the National Capital today as they completed the evacuation of thousands of members of the bonus expeditionary force from all government property in the District of Columbia.

The evacuation casualties totalled one dead and 65 wounded, injured and gassed.

Calmness prevailed throughout the capital, although four great fire-charred areas marked the spots where thousands of bonus marchers were encamped for several months past. The veterans were fleeing from the city as from a pestilence, as the troops drove them relentlessly with tear gas bombs from one encampment after another.

The troops left a desolate blackened waste in their wake. Each time they captured an encampment and drove out its inhabitants, they applied the torch. Pillars of flame roared into the sky throughout the night from various sections of the capital.

President's Answer.

This was the answer of President Hoover to the refusal of the veterans to move from government property. He called out federal troops to evacuate them after two riots brought injury to a dozen policemen and the death of one veteran. He acted only after capital police announced they could no longer maintain law and order.

The casualties after a day of rioting and a night of evacuation totalled 66. This included one dead veteran, sixteen injured or gassed policemen, 34 wounded veterans, 10 injured by-standers and 5 injured soldiers. One veteran was shot and killed by a policeman, when mobbed by the bonus marchers. Two other veterans were wounded by police fire.

The troops moved relentlessly. They used tear gas bombs liberally, bringing up cavalry and tanks to follow up each assault on the veteran encampments. Flames lit the skies all night long.

Refugees Fleeing.

Refugees were streaming from the city early this morning, each road leading north, west and south had its quota of fleeing veterans. Hundreds of others, driven from their temporary shelters, were being housed by kind-hearted citizens, along the roads.

Army orders were reported to include daylight attacks on two remaining camps. These were Camp Simms, where convalescing veterans lived, and Camp Barlett, where the bonus marchers were invited to stay by its owner, John H. Bartlett, a former assistant postmaster general.

Three thousand cavalry, infantry, machine-gunners and tank corps operatives were in control of the city. The metropolitan police, who relinquished the task of ousting the veterans, formed a second line of offense. They threw a strong guard around the White House grounds—where no troops were in evidence.

The troops occupied each evacuated area. They wore their steel-helmets and carried bayonets.

Warfare Tactics.

Scenes around the capital were demonstrative of modern warfare. The cavalry swept into successive encampments, drove back all spectators and encircled the objective. Then came gas-masked infantry, with fixed bayonets. They hurled gas bombs—truck-loads of them.

Rumbling tanks, machine guns companies and clean-up squads swept up in successive waves. The veterans fled precipitously before tear gas and military strength. Once forced into the open, the cavalry and tanks followed the fleeing bonus marchers, driving them toward the city limits. Whenever laggards halted, they were showered with tear gas.

Fire Camps.

Once an encampment was cleared of its veterans, troops set fire to the deserted huts and impromptu dwelling. Flames roared to the sky, with city firemen standing by to prevent spread of the fire to valuable properties nearby.

It was nearing midnight, when the troops crossed the eastern branch river into the suburb of Anacostia. In an hour, 51 acres of temporary shelters were in flames, sending a pyre of smoke and fire high into the sky.

The invasion began in good order. As the cavalry approached, the veterans began to leave the camp. The mounted troops established a horse-shoe half-circle around the encampment, the open end leading toward the roads into nearby Maryland. Then came the infantry. The scene was martial but peaceful.

Bang! A tear gas bomb was exploded in a camp street. Then came a barrage of tear gas bombs.

The infantry, wearing gas-masks, went into the camp on the run. Bayonets prodded lagging bonus marchers.

A supply of food for the bonus marchers, and hundreds of tents, borrowed from the district national guard, was destroyed by the flames.

Several airplanes sailed over the area as the flames roared to the sky.

Toss Tear Gas Bombs.

The troops tossed tear gas bombs wherever they found a group of veterans huddled. Scores of veterans, sleeping out on the sidewalks, were routed by gas bombs.

Hundreds of citizens fled from their homes as the gas permeated dwellings. They complained without avail.

One bomb was exploded on the steps of the Anacostia savings bank, where veterans sought refuge. Another was exploded at the corner of Good Hope road and Nichols avenue—the 42nd and Broadway of Anacostia.

One detachment of marchers, numbering around 200 and including women and children, started for Johnstown, Pa., where they said they had been invited to stop. They took the wrong road—a highway leading into southern Maryland. State police herded them back into the District of Columbia.

The troops ran out of fear gas bombs around 2 a. m. A fresh supply was rushed into the area on army trucks. Bombing began anew. The troops even followed veterans along a passing railroad track driving them from hiding places where they awaited an opportunity to hop passing freight trains.

Army To Make Second Visit To Clear Sites

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The army is going to take another march today on the lower Pennsylvania avenue camp and the other billets it cleared and burned yesterday.

Many veterans have returned to these encampments and the District commissioners asked Secretary of War Hurley to have the troops stage another march and clear all the marchers from Federal property.

The army will be recalled to these areas this afternoon.

The authorities were told that the veterans had evacuated Camp Meigs and Camp Simms and it was not certain whether the soldiers would visit these encampments.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

HAROLD R. McCULLOCH, County Agent POTATO GROWERS WILL TOUR OHIO

Lawrence County Potato Growers will have an opportunity to visit the A. C. Ranseyer Potato Fields at Smithville, Ohio and the Ohio Experimental Station at Wooster with a tour of Western Pennsylvania Potato Growers on August 9th and 10th.

The tour will leave New Castle on the morning of August 9th and drive to the Ranseyer Farm located six miles north of Wooster on Ohio Route 5. The remainder of that day will be spent in inspecting the 400 acres of potatoes being grown on that farm this year. Fifty acres of Cobblers will be in the process of being dug at that time. Machinery and equipment to be seen will include four row planter, two row diggers, truck sprayer, graders and cleaners.

Those interested in dairying will have the opportunity of studying the management of a dairy consisting of 150 to 200 cows.

The Wooster Experimental Station to be visited presents the opportunity of seeing experimental projects of a neighboring state on various lines of agriculture; projects on fertility and spraying of potatoes will be of particular interest.

The time and place from which the local growers will start will be announced next week.

DAIRYMEN WILL MAKE TOUR

Plans are being completed for Lawrence and Beaver County Dairymen to make a tour to Polk State School on August 11th. Stops will be made at several dairies between New Castle and Polk.

The opportunity of visiting the pure-bred herd of Holstein cattle at Polk should not be overlooked by any dairyman who can arrange to take the trip. There will also be an opportunity of inspecting the other features of the Institution.

The route to be followed and other stops which will be made will be announced in this column next week.

TEST SOIL FOR LIME REQUIREMENTS

Seventy five of the one hundred sixty samples of soil tested for lime requirement at the Agricultural Extension Association office were from fields too sour to grow red clover successfully.

The samples showed a requirement of over 4,000 pounds of ground limestone per acre. On many farms the requirements of even less than 4,000 pounds per acre will not insure a clover crop.

As the time approaches for the sowing of fall grain on land to be seeded to clover next spring, attention should be paid to the lime content of that soil. Clover seed sown on sour soil is like "seed sown by the wayside," lime put on soil already sweet is money wasted.

Lawrence County farmers will do well by bringing a sample of the land to be seeded to clover to the Agricultural Extension Association office for testing. One-half pint of soil is sufficient as a sample and should be made up by taking a small amount of soil from 8 or 10 places over the field and mixing them together.

POTATO FIELDS INFESTED BY APHIDS

With a rather heavy infestation of potato aphids on early potatoes in some sections, Lawrence County growers should look for little green and red insects on the underside of the leaves of the potato plant.

In fields where the tubers are to be harvested within the next two or three weeks, control methods will perhaps not be worth while. In other fields where harvest will come somewhat later, and where some 25 to 30 aphids are found underneath the leaves, control measures should be started immediately.

If the weather turns hot and dry the infestation will increase rapidly and the tops may be killed within 3 or 4 days.

Potato aphids can be controlled by using 1 pint of nicotine sulphate in 100 gallons of bordeaux mixture. The nozzle on the spray boom should be adjusted to throw the spray up through the leaves so that the under side will be thoroughly drenched.

Growers desiring further information should get a copy of Bulletin No. 137 'Profitable Potato Spraying" from the Agriculture Extension Association office.

SWINE RATION CAN BE BALANCED AT LOW COST

Tankage can be used to balance the swine ration at less cost than skimmilk.

At present prices, 100 pounds of tankage is equal in value as feed to 2700 pounds of skimmilk, when the milk is fed at the rate of 3 pounds to 1 pound of grain and tankage is fed at the rate of 1 pound to 10 pounds of grain, the recommended ratios.

Skimmilk has a stimulating effect and in small amounts is a valuable feed, but in larger amounts its value per pound is less.

THIN LAMBS HEAVILY PENALIZED ON MARKET

There is probably no class of livestock that is penalized as heavily as lambs for being marketed in a thin condition.

Sheepmen should make arrangements each spring for some type of good pasture for the young lambs at weaning time.

Lambs should be weaned when they are from four to four and one-half months old. There are two advantages in weaning at this time. First it makes it possible to get the lambs into fresh pasture and second it gives the ewe a rest before the mating season.

If the young lambs show any signs of internal parasites at weaning time they should be drenched at least twice three weeks apart and then turned on fresh pasture.

With the present price of grain, sheepmen will find it an economical practice to feed their lambs grain to get the proper finish.

Proper finish may mean a premium of from one dollar and a half to two dollars and a half a hundred. The market will always pay a premium for a finished lamb and in this way lambs furnish a market for any surplus grain.

Less Oregon Divorces Due To Hard Times

(International News Service)

SALEM, Ore., July 29—Hard times have hit Oregon divorce courts, according to figures released by the secretary of state.

A comparison of figures for the first six months of this year with those of 1931 show a decrease of 21 per cent and a 30 per cent loss in comparison with the 1930 list.

In 1930, there were 1,833 divorce actions up to June 30 as compared with 1,633 for the first half of 1931 and 1,284 for the first six months of this year, all of which is contrary to the old adage that "love flies out of the window when poverty comes to the door."

College Instructor At Westminster Is Winner Of Honor

HERSCHEL BEASLEY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., July 29.—Herschel V. Beasley, assistant professor of chemistry at Westminster college for the past year, has been given an industrial fellowship at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh for the coming year.

Professor Beasley, a graduate of the University of Tennessee in 1926, received his master's degree from Carnegie Tech in 1928. He was a research fellow at the United States Bureau of Mines during 1927 and 1928; and was a research engineer for the General Motors corporation from 1928 to 1931.

Professor Beasley was appointed for one year at Westminster while Dr. Charles Freeman, head of the department, was engaged as acting president of the college.

Only Two Snakes In State Are Bad

Campers And Hikers May Procure Anti-Venom Serum To Counteract Bite

(Special to the New Castle News)

HARRISBURG, July 29.—The snake problem presents itself to the people of Pennsylvania during the summer season, and is a matter of increasing importance, because of the emphasis on camping, hiking, exploring and engaging in the joys of out door life. Two families of venomous snakes are found in the state, the rattlesnake being the most important and dangerous, according to Mr. Roy G. Miller, Chief of the Biological Bureau, State Department of Health.

While the rattlesnake sounds a warning, and gives the hiker a chance, he is naturally more aggressive and inclined to defend what he considers his rights, from intrusion. The copperhead, while numerous, is of less importance, because he is more inclined to retreat upon approach, seldom strikes unless stepped upon, or disturbed, and secretes little venom with his bite.

Now the woods are particularly appealing, and the steady tide of campers and hikers lured to them indicates that the charm of nature still persists. Health giving rambles should be taken with due caution for the very real danger from venomous snakes. Go prepared!

The State Department of Health urges the protection of a package of Anti-Venom Serum, which may be secured from your druggist or the Biological Division of the Department, carried with you into the woods. In case of snake bite, it should be at once self administered. It will neutralize the poison of either rattlesnake or copperhead.

Anti-Venom serum retains its efficiency for years in the original package. It should be given as soon as possible, but is still of value if 24 hours have elapsed. Keep very quiet, do nothing to cause rapid circulation of the blood, send for the doctor. Avoid all stimulants. A package of Anti-Venom Serum is cheap life insurance, if you frequent the woods, mountains or fishing streams.

Foul Odors Are Not Always Bad

Science Never Able To Discover Disease Germs In Bad Odors

HARRISBURG, July 29.—While it is still true that a great majority of people consider an offensive odor a health nuisance, it has never been clearly demonstrated that the foulest or most unpleasant smell holds within itself any real danger to health, according to information disclosed at the State Department of Health.

This matter has been brought to the front by the recent hot days, which brought to the State Health Department a flood of complaints about this condition and that which the writer invariably stated was a very real danger to the public health, and would surely start some sort of an epidemic at once if the nuisance condition was not abated.

The Health Department agrees that there are a very great many unpleasant and offensive odors arising from certain conditions that exist in the commonwealth. It also agrees that life would be much pleasanter if such odors did not fill the summer breezes with the aroma of decaying matter and other smells that are far from rose like in their perfume.

But since this department is charged with the "defense of the public health," its function must lay in the line of abating nuisances that contain a real health peril, and it is without legal authority to deal in any manner with such situations as are almost daily brought to its attention, but which can not be proven to contain any health hazards.

Science has never discovered that bad odors carry any form of disease. A smell may be unpleasant as to cause nausea, and still be as free from harmful germs as a zephyr from a flower garden. This matter is carefully explained to all who file complaints about bad odors, by Daniel V. Ness, Nuisance Officer, State Department of Health.

Status Of Affairs At Legislative Session Outlined By Richards

With five weeks of the Extraordinary Session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly already passed, the question has been asked, "what has been accomplished, what may be accomplished, and what relief measures can be passed?" A brief resume of these things is given herewith, by Assemblyman Bart Richards in the following statement made today.

"The present extraordinary session was called by Governor Gifford Pinchot after a concerted demand by organized charities, labor organizations and a number of men prominent in the councils of the Republican party in this state. The purpose of the charities organizations was to have abated appropriations restored to hospitals, asylums, Mothers Assistance fund and the like. The purpose of organized labor was to provide unemployment relief, and that of the State Republican organization apparently to aid in alleviating conditions."

Program Mapped Out

A tentative program of legislation was agreed upon by the governor, State Treasurer Martin, Secretary of Revenue King, and such other men as Senators Harry B. Scott and John J. McClure. Fourteen points were included in the call, among them legislation to restore abated appropriations, permit the City of Philadelphia to enlarge its taxing scope, permit municipalities of the state to borrow money against their delinquent taxes, a fifty million dollar bond issue for relief purposes, legislation to have Pennsylvania conform to the requirements of the Federal relief bill, a limited dividend housing corporation law to conform to the Federal requirements, and other legislation.

The first thing that confronted the Legislature was the necessity of providing funds to restore the abatements which had been made in hospital and Mothers Assistance appropriations due to the ten million dollars spent for relief by the Talbot Bill. Under a decision of the State Supreme Court this was made a preferred claim which meant that the money had to be paid out regardless of the fact that there was no surplus in the treasury. The hospitals and Mothers Assistance Fund were abated or reduced 24 per cent which meant that 48 per cent of the second year's allocation would be cut. In addition there was a five million dollar deficit due to falling revenues. This meant that the Legislature was faced with the job of providing fifteen million dollars before any relief could be had.

Flood Of Bills

Immediately upon the convening of the session a flood of bills was presented, among them the Steedle Bill which slashed current appropriation about $22,000,000. Other slashers brought the total to nearly $27,000,000. The Steedle Bill passed the House whereupon the governor said he would veto it if it came to him in the shape it was and the result has been a series of conferences between the governor, Steedle and Scott of the Senate. The bill now is reduced to about $12,000,000 which is barely enough to cover the deficiencies.

The first break in the series of appropriation slashers came when the bill to cut $400,000 from the Pymatuning Dam was recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. The Steedle bill slashes came for the most part from the Teacher's Retirement Fund which meant about $6,000,000 from the Department of Property and Supplies which meant about $5,000,000 that had been appropriated for building purposes, and heavy cuts in the Departments of Agriculture and Labor and Industry.

Had this bill gone through and passed over the governor's veto it would have meant the discontinuance of all building projects in the state not under actual contract, drastic cuts in the hospital appropriations, and a handicapping of some of the departments of the state government. The sponsor of the bill argued that this would obviate the necessity of any new taxes.

New Tax Plans

As the matter now stands, unless new money is raised in some form of taxation or a bond issue, there can be little direct relief for the unemployed. As a result there is already an income tax law presented which would tax all incomes over $2500 1 per cent, a tax on cigarettes soft drinks and cosmetics, and other revenue raisers.

Some money is available from lapsed appropriations. These mean that moneys appropriated in 1929 which were not used by June 1, 1931 went back into the general fund and can be taken out for relief purposes. An example of this is about $800,000 in the Firemen's Relief Fund which accumulated and was not apportioned to fire companies. Counting these lapsed appropriations and what economies can be effected, there will be about $3,000,000 for relief, which is not any considerable sum of money.

The five weeks has developed one fact and that is that there are but two ways to get money for relief purposes at this session, one by increased taxation which will be done only as a last resort, and the other a fifty million dollar bond issue, which would be floated and left to the good will of the people to approve in the election of 1933.

Can't Force Salary Reductions

Any reduction in salaries of constitutional officers, that is officers elected by the people, could have no effect now as no salary can be reduced while the incumbent holds office. Such bills will undoubtedly be presented in the regular session of 1933 and should have a good chance of passage.

While it is true that little complete legislation has been passed in the five weeks the session has been sitting, it is also true that the investigations of the past five weeks, the scrutiny of budgets and expenses will result in some legislation being passed in the next two weeks that should be productive of good. From the indications now, the Senate will pass the Steedle bill in its reduced form, a fifty million dollar bond issue will be passed, an income tax on salaries over $2500 seems possible, and adjournment should come about August 9th."

France Expresses Her Disapproval Of German Talk

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 29.—Premier Edouard Herriot summoned German Ambassador Von Hoesch to the foreign office Thursday afternoon and formally expressed the disapproval of the French government at the radio speech recently broadcast by General Kurt Von Schleicher, German Minister of Defense.

Neither the foreign office nor the German embassy would dicuss the object of Von Hoesch's call.

But it was later learned from reliable sources that Herriot strongly protested against Von Schleicher's criticism of French policies and his warning that Germany would build up her army unless other nations agreed to arms reduction.

Now . . . IVORY SOAP Prices are Lowest in 17 Years

Yes—it has been a national sensation—and Ivory Soap sales are beating all records.

Your neighbors have read the news in their daily papers. They have seen the new prices on grocery-store displays. They are buying Ivory by the dozen cakes.

Day after day, the unending stream of gleaming white Ivory cakes is flowing into millions of American homes from coast to coast. Homes that used to use three or four cakes a month are now using six or eight or a dozen.

"Why?" we've asked grocers.

"Because my customers find Ivory so economical at these new prices that they can use it for all soap purposes."

"Yes," say the women themselves, "that's right. We used to use Ivory only for toilet purposes and fine laundry. But now we can save our hands and all our family clothes and our nice painted surfaces by using Ivory wherever we need soap at all."

Now you can make Ivory your only soap, too. It's the same pure, mild Ivory you've always known—but today it costs almost as little as ordinary laundry soaps.

DETROIT, July 29—A place may look like a speakeasy and small like one, but it takes more than mere observation of those facts to make a prohibition case.

M. F. Parks, dry agent, testified in federal court here he visited a bar operated by Frank Jaksha, and saw men drinking what appeared to him to be beer. Jaksha, not knowing Parks would sell him no drinks but was arrested anyway.

URGES AUTOISTS TO CO-OPERATE IN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Gable Believes Drivers Should Be Given Periodic Tests

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Every car owner should comply promptly and willingly with the regulations of the state's compulsory inspection campaigns, the second of which for 1932 is now under way, S. Edward Gable said today. Gable is chairman of the executive committee of Governor Gifford Pinchot's committee on Street and Highway Safety and president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

"The state is making every effort to rid the highways of cars that are mechanically unfit," Gable stated. "Through the medium of two compulsory inspection periods each year it is accomplishing much along this line. A car may be in perfect condition mechanically, with every one of the several hundred nuts and bolts in the body, chassis and motor tight but if there's a 'loose nut' behind the steering wheel the vehicle is unsafe."

"Statistics gathered by the American Automobile Association in a recent nationwide survey of accident causes show that in 89 per cent. of the fatal and near fatal accidents during the past year the driver, not the mechanism of the motor vehicle, was at fault. This indicates quite clearly where most of the trouble is and provides a most convincing reason why the State should go a step further in its compulsory inspections and make sure that the human element behind the wheel, as well as the mechanism of the vehicle, is safe.

What we need is compulsory inspection that will include both driver and vehicle, with ample follow-up facilities to enforce all provisions of the inspection. This could be handled in such a way as to work no hardship on operators, but, on the other hand, would give them better protection against the careless and reckless motorist on our streets and highways.

Asks Drivers To Protect Animals

Reports To Motor Federation Indicate Hundreds Are Being Killed

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 29.—An appeal to drivers to protect dogs, cats and other small animals or fowl that wander on the highways was sounded today by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation as the result of complaints from all parts of the State that thousands of these are being killed by automobiles. Opening to motorists of many rural areas through completion of several thousand miles of new road during the past year has added materially to the slaughter of animals on highways, according to the P. M. F.

"The law gives virtually no protection to animals on the highways, but car operators should give them consideration and care at all times," said S. Edward Gable, president of the Federation. "The great majority of motorists do everything possible to safeguard animals and fowl, yet often we come across a dead dog, cat, chicken, squirrel or rabbit that has been the victim of a motor vehicle. Of course there are times when hitting one of these is unavoidable, and sometimes drivers jeopardize their own safety to avert running down an animal or fowl, but some are not so considerate in this respect as they should be."

State Furnishes Anti-Venom Serum For Vacationists

Preparations Can Be Made To Combat Possible Snake Bite

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Anti-venom serum, a concentrated serum of high potency for use in the treatment of snakebites, is in stock at the biological division, State Department of Health, ready for all requests. This serum is supplied at moderate cost to all who require it, according to Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health.

The serum retains its potency for a long period and will neutralize the venoms in all poisonous snakes commonly found in Pennsylvania, principally the rattlesnake and copperhead. The various species of rattlesnake in the state are the most aggressive and dangerous. The copperhead, while numerous in some sections, secretes little venom and seldom strikes unless approached closely or stepped upon.

The summer season, with increased outdoor life, hiking, mountain climbing and exploring, makes the snake bite problem more important, and every person exposed to this danger should carry a package of anti-venom serum, to be used instantly in case of being bitten. It can be self administered.

Anti-venom serum is prepared under the direction of Dr. Alfranio Do Amarai, director of the Anti-Venom Institute of America, who has been associated with the work in Brazil and is recognized as an expert.

The Golden Text

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights—Jas. 1:17.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson for July 31 is Exodus 16:1-36, especially verses 1-5, 14, 15, 35, the Golden Text being James 1:17, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights.")

The children of Israel had gone only a month's journey after God's marvelous deliverance of them and destruction of their Egyptian oppressors at the Red sea.

One would think that the memory of that deliverance would remain with them a lifetime. But it does not require much depression to make some of us forget the prosperity and blessings that went before. Here only a month sufficed to set the nation to murmuring against their lot, their leaders and their Lord.

Eight times in verses 2, 7, 8, 10 and 12 we read the record of this "murmuring" as the people longed for a return to their Egyptian bondage for the sake of the flesh pots of which they had eaten to the full: "Would that we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh pots, when we did eat bread to the full; for ye have brought us forth into the wilderness, to kill this whole assembly with hunger."

The record says nothing of any prayer on the people's part that the God who had delivered them might also feed them. They took it out in murmuring against Jehovah instead of praising and petitioning his mercy.

But who are we in this year 1932 to criticize those murmurers of 34 centuries ago? Is the proportion of our praying in this period of depression as compared with our murmuring any more favorable? Has any great national spiritual awakening to our need of God evidenced itself among us in America? If we as a people ceased murmuring and turned to God for his mercy might it not prove to be the one untried but sufficient means of "breaking the depression?" Is it not worth trying in our Sunday schools and churches and homes?

Manna in the Wilderness

The purpose of the brief period of hardship God had permitted to come upon the nation to prove or try them is indicated in his words to Moses: "Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people shall go out and gather a day's portion every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law, or not." So God's withholdings are as much a part of his mercy as are his bestowals. Both are that he may prove us to determine whether we will walk in his laws or not.

Thus God fed his people daily in the wilderness for 40 years with bread sent down miraculously from heaven. The very name they gave it, "Manna", meaning "What is it?", symbolized the mystery of it. "And when the dew that lay was gone, behold, upon the face of the wilderness a small, round thing, small as the hoar frost on the ground." With the regularity of the sunrise it came, except on the Sabbath, for which provision was made by a double portion on the preceding day each week. Sufficient was given for every man's needs, for God wants all his children fed. Moses explained the mystery, saying, "It is bread which Jehovah hath given you to eat." And our Lord Jesus Christ explained it as a type of himself as "the bread of life", "the bread of God which cometh down out of heaven, and giveth life unto the world".

Cut Car Service In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 29.—Drastic reductions in street car and bus service on most of the lines operated by the Youngstown Municipal Railway Company were announced yesterday by Elliott Ingersoll, city utilities engineer, as a step toward meeting the mounting deficit the railway operating funds.

On 11 lines service will be curtailed either by taking off one bus or street car or eliminating extra service during the rush hours. Only seven lines, two of them shuttles, will retain their present schedules. The changes will take effect August 3.

Dog Saves Master By Killing Snakes

Piombino, Italy July 29.—All Tuscany talks of a heroic wolf hound, called Lupo (wolf) who not only held at bay a nest of poison snakes, which attacked his owner who was digging for antigues on the site of the Etruscan City of Populonium but killed sixteen of them. One, it is said, was six feet long.

He killed that first, by biting its belly and the back of its head. Then fifteen others darted out of the nest to avenge the death of their parent. With amazing agility the dog kept biting at them, and at the end of half an hour, not one was left.

Perry, P. R. R. Trainmaster, Closing 48 Years With Road

Trainmaster Frank J. Perry of the Pennsylvania railroad comes as near to deserving membership in Fred L. Rentz' "Half-Century of Service" club as any man could, for he's spent 48 years on the rolls of that great railroad.

Perry was a bit hesitant about telling about it, but a reporter persuaded him to recount his railroad career today.

The oldest official on the Erie & Ashtabula division from the standpoint of service, Perry, friendly and jovial, has been associated with E. & A. men since August 2, 1884, the very day he became a Penny telegraph operator at Youngstown.

At Youngstown he worked until he became dispatcher, from which post he moved up to division operator and then to assistant trainmaster. Then on February 7, 1911—21 years ago—he was promoted to the trainmastership. He's held it ever since.

Perry said there's enough stories he could recount to fill several oversized books, but the time it would take wasn't to be had today.

So, as Fred L. Rentz celebrates his 50th anniversary on The News, he'll have the satisfaction of knowing that friend "Frank" feels like celebrating too, next Tuesday!

Champion Old-Timer Expounds Philosophy

(International News Service)

CORDAVILLE, Mass., July 29.—"Before you are 40 mingle with the older people, to learn all you can; after 40 reverse the order and mingle with the young folks."

Such was the advice expounded by "Manager Dan" O'Neil, the sage of Cordaville, on his birthday anniversary in which he admitted that he was "born quite some time ago."

"Mgr. Dan" as he is known to thousands in Worcester County is Cordaville correspondent for the Framingham News, but his homely recordings are principally about "Mgr. Dan", old-time sport, old-time dancing master, old-time baseball manager, in fact, as he put it, "old-time everything."

Dan, still a bachelor, says that "a man is as young as he feels, and a woman as old as she looks."

SAVED BY DIRECTORY.

CLEVELAND, O.—Patrolman Norman A. Voss, 26, owes his life to a copy of Cleveland's street directory. Voss was shot by a bandit he sought to capture and the bullet struck the directory he was carrying in his pocket before grazing his stomach slightly and falling to the ground.

Correct this sentence: "Why, yes," said the new acquaintance, "I have some chronic ailments, but let's not talk about such things."

*Electric Ear answers question WHICH GASOLINE IS BEST?

New TYDOL winner over 16 gasolines in first actual anti-knock road test . . .

FIRST IN ANTI-KNOCK

Proved by the Electric Ear—the most accurate sound meter known to Science . . . proved in a 3-day test . . . same hill, same car . . . and TYDOL won every triple-checked trial . . . No doubt about it, TYDOL is first in anti-knock.

FIRST IN POWER

The fewer the knocks, the greater the power, as every driver knows. And TYDOL'S smooth, silent strength is never wasted by knocking, laboring motors. It wins every power test.

FIRST IN MILEAGE

More power means more mileage. Get a tankful from any of the thousands of orange-and-black TYDOL pumps . . . and test it on your own hills, your own roads. Try it for knocking. Try it for power. Check your speedometer. And you will see that TYDOL, in addition to giving you all the premium qualities, actually gives you more miles per gallon.

Two Meet Death In Mine Blast

Two Known Killed, Undetermined Number Trapped In Mine As Blast Occurs

TRAGEDY HAPPENS NEAR JOHNSTOWN

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 29.—Two men were killed and an undetermined number entombed when a gas explosion wrecked the Hillman Coal and Coke Mine at Jerome near here today.

As all emergency crews were rushed to the mine to aid in rescue work, company officials revealed that 40 men were at work when the blast occurred.

The victims were Frank Lawrence and Larry Prucilla, both of Jerome.

Delbert Parkins, mine boss, and Herbert Geist, both of Jerome, were dragged from the darkened hole and rushed to a hospital with severe body burns.

Gives Blast Details.

While rescuers worked frantically to free the entombed men, Parkins gave minor details of the blast.

While going into the pit early today, he said he detected gas and immediately ordered the men to stop using an electric loading machine. Immediately after the machine was turned off, the explosion shook the entire neighborhood, blocking the exit of the workers.

Mine Superintendent Kent and his assistant, Boyd, appealed for volunteers and the inhabitants of the mining town immediately deserted their beds to join in the search.

Frantic wives with small children huddled in their arms, milled about the shaft as the rescue work proceeded.

Line department men of the Pennsylvania Power company replaced a group of burned out wires Thursday afternoon at the south-west corner of the North Liberty and West Cherry street intersection.

It was this spot where the street light trouble of Wednesday night eminated. Seventh Ward's main street was in darkness Wednesday night. Lights were out from Cherry street up North Liberty on both sides, and from Cherry street down North Liberty on the west side.

Observations In 7th Ward

"Tin can walking" has been taken up by local youngsters in a great big way. Up and down North Liberty street they parade, clanketty-clankety-clank. Apparatus consists of old tin cans upside down,. one held to each foot by a rope. Something like stilts.

Being without a steam shovel for leveling did not bother the group of men who are making the Sixth street tennis court. They improvised a shovel and fastened it onto an automobile front. It is all very simple and effective. The car is driven over the court site and the shovel heaves the bumps from the ground.

A lad from the west stopped in a local pool room for tobacco Thursday. He wore one of those ten gallon hats seen so often during the Coolidge presidential campaign.

TRAVEL CLUB POSTER

A poster, showing the progress of the Mahoningtown library Travel Club members in reading their ten selected books on travel and foreign lands, will be displayed here next Monday, according to announcement by Mrs. Gladys Johnston, branch librarian.

Each members name and the number of books he or she have read will be included on the chart.

Illinois Given Three Million

Emergency Loan Of Three Million Is Given Illinois By Corporation

PENNSYLVANIA'S LOAN IS NEXT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The first loan of the Reconstruction Finance corporation under the terms of the $2,122,000,000 unemployment relief bill, was on record Thursday, with Illinois obtaining an emergency loan of $3,000,000.

In announcing the Illinois loan, the board announced that it expects "all states to meet their needs to the greatest possible extent from their public and private sources, and call upon the corporation only as a last resort to supplement their own efforts."

Otherwise," it added, "the $300,000,000 made available by the law will not be sufficient to meet the purposes desired or all requirements for such purposes."

The loan was made from the $300,000,000 fund provided in the general relief bill for loans to states.

Pennsylvania was the second state to apply for a loan under the relief bill and it is probable the application of that state will be acted upon next. Governor Pinchot asked for the maximum allowance of $45,000,000. Only two other states, Louisiana and Arizona, have requested this amount.

The couple leaped to safety but Mrs. Tatum, the husband said turned back to rescue the parrot and was fatally burned.

Amazons Battle In Bootlegger's Arrest

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29—None would dispute George Guastello's popularity with the ladies. Six of them sprang to his assistance when federal agents sought to arrest him on a charge of transporting liquor.

Three deputy marshals called at the Guastello residence. A pretty young woman answered their rap on the door.

Wham! The door slammed in their faces forcibly as they announced themselves.

The agents promptly battered down the door and as they entered were attacked by six women who used finger nails and teeth with telling effect. The deputies finally subdued the embattled Amazons just in time to nab Guastello as he jumped from a bedroom window.

Illinois Given Three Million

Emergency Loan Of Three Million Is Given Illinois By Corporation

PENNSYLVANIA'S LOAN IS NEXT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The first loan of the Reconstruction Finance corporation under the terms of the $2,122,000,000 unemployment relief bill, was on record Thursday, with Illinois obtaining an emergency loan of $3,000,000.

In announcing the Illinois loan, the board announced that it expects "all states to meet their needs to the greatest possible extent from their public and private sources, and call upon the corporation only as a last resort to supplement their own efforts."

Otherwise," it added, "the $300,000,000 made available by the law will not be sufficient to meet the purposes desired or all requirements for such purposes."

The loan was made from the $300,000,000 fund provided in the general relief bill for loans to states.

Pennsylvania was the second state to apply for a loan under the relief bill and it is probable the application of that state will be acted upon next. Governor Pinchot asked for the maximum allowance of $45,000,000. Only two other states, Louisiana and Arizona, have requested this amount.

Woman Loses Life In Effort To Save Polly

(International News Service)

OXFORD, Miss., July 29—An attempt to save her pet parrot from death in a blazing automobile, cost Mrs. Jesse Tatum, bride of two months, her life.

Returning here with her husband, a Lafayette county farmer, from her former home in St. Louis, the automobile burst into flames.

The couple leaped to safety but Mrs. Tatum, the husband said turned back to rescue the parrot and was fatally burned.

Amazons Battle In Bootlegger's Arrest

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29—None would dispute George Guastello's popularity with the ladies. Six of them sprang to his assistance when federal agents sought to arrest him on a charge of transporting liquor.

Three deputy marshals called at the Guastello residence. A pretty young woman answered their rap on the door.

Wham! The door slammed in their faces forcibly as they announced themselves.

The agents promptly battered down the door and as they entered were attacked by six women who used finger nails and teeth with telling effect. The deputies finally subdued the embattled Amazons just in time to nab Guastello as he jumped from a bedroom window.

Vets Corps Will Hold Wiener Roast

Plans have been completed by the bugle and drum corps of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a wiener roast to be held at the home of Ralph Coleman, Graceland road, this evening.

Wives and sweethearts of the members are included in the invitation to attend, and a good program and feed has been arranged by the committee.

Saturday evening, the corps will meet at the home of Mrs. Stickle, 117 East Grant street at 8 o'clock. Every member of the corps is asked to appear in uniform and have his instrument.

Baby Is Youngest College Student

(International News Service)

AMES, Ia., July 29.—Iowa State college's youngest student is Betty Jean, 3 months old.

Betty Jean has all her classes at Isabell Bevier house, where coeds study home management. She was adopted by the college from an orphanage, to give students a baby to care for in the college home management course.

The baby will be "graduated" in two years, when she will be turned over for adoption to a worthy family.

WILD ELECTION CAMPAIGN CLOSING IN GERMANY

Election Sunday Is Bitter Battle

Thirty Five Millions To Cast Ballots For Reichstag Substitute

SEE LARGE GAINS FOR TWO FACTIONS

By EDWARD L. DUESS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 29.—With Germany's immediate political future in the balance, approximately 35,000,000 voters will go to the polls on Sunday to choose a substitute for the old German Reichstag, elected in 1930 and dissolved by Chancellor Franz Von Papen immediately after resignation of the Bruening government two months ago.

Political observers predict a victory for Von Papen's "Cabinet of Monarchists" and huge electoral gains for the National Socialist followers of Adolf Hitler.

The election will be a fight of all parties against the incumbent cabinet, but the parties are expected to finish in a draw while Von Papen remains nominal head of the state.

Wild Election

"Down with the government," has been the slogan of all parties in one of the wildest election campaigns in German history, marked by daily bloodshed and murder and by the most ruthless personal propaganda against political personalities Germany has witnessed since the revolution.

More than 150 dead and approximately 500 wounded are estimated to be the victims of Germany's "Silent Civil War."

The unique fact has been that the government, violently assailed from all sides, remained calm and totally indifferent amid the pandemonium of political passions. Strictly adhering to their roles in a "super-party government of national concentration," none of the cabinet ministers made a single election speech nor did the government plead to any party to support its cause.

Five Women Jailed After Hearing On Disorderly Charge

Four negresses and a white woman, arrested by constables and city police Thursday night in a raid on an alleged disorderly house at 23 Sycamore way, were held in the Lawrence county jail today for the September term of court, after a hearing late Friday, before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing.

Ewing held Mrs. Brown, Miss Hallie Johnston the alleged proprietress Miss Jessie Brown, Estella Taylor and Frances Tabear, the latter four Negresses. Miss Johnston is charged with being the proprietress and the other four as being inmates.

CHARGES MADE BEFORE ALDERMAN

Two men giving the names of W. S. Bradshaw and William D. Nickel were taken into custody by the police shortly before midnight Thursday, after their machine had crashed into and damaged that of Charles Gurgiolo, which was standing in front of his home on Neshannock avenue. The car was the property of Nickel but Bradshaw was driving it. They were held for investigation due to their alleged condition. They were turned over to Alderman O. H. P. Green this morning by the police, where they are charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and permitting another to operate a car while under the influence of liquor. The hearing will be held later.

Third Church Will Hear Prize Essays

Prize stewardship essays written by two members of the Young People's Christian Union of the Third U. P. church will be read at the Sunday evening service of the congregation, to be held in the church basement under the auspices of the young people. The opening hour will be 7:30.

The readers will be Janet Copeland and Miss Kathryn Hopper, authors of the themes. The compositions were written in a nation-wide stewardship esay contest.

Harry Newell will lead the service, while Miss Kathryn Newman and Reed Gorman will contribute special music.

County School Office To Close

Mr. Ball passed away in the Jamieson Memorial hospital Friday morning, following an illness of several months.

Borotra-Vines Battle Today

Ellsworth Vines Meets Borotra And Wilmer Allison Meets Henri Cochet

JEAN BOROTRA IN SHAPE TODAY

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, PARIS, July 29.—Before a crowd of 10,000 including President Albert Lebrun of France and American Ambassador Walter E. Edge, the United States and France squared off today for their seventh battle for the Davis cup in the last eight years.

Hopeful of drawing first blood for America, Ellsworth Vines, Jr., 21-year old California marvel, took the court against Jean Borotra after colorful preliminaries staged in front of the glistening trophy which France has held since 1927.

Borotra Wins.

Only two matches will be played today. After the Vines-Borotra affray, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, will face Henri Cochet, ace of the French squad, who by the fortunes of the draw will meet Vines in the final match of the series.

Borotra won the first set of his match against Vines 6-4.

Borotra won the second on his own service.

The American won the third with his lightning service and broke through Borotra in the fourth to level it at two-all.

Borotra, won the next three games running.

Borotra's accurate service stood him in good stead and he won the tenth and deciding game without difficulty.

Crime Story Magazines Hit

Resolution To Suppress Such Publications Offered In Chicago City Council

CHICAGO, July 29.—A resolution urging the suppression of magazines devoted to crime stories was introduced in the city council Thursday.

It recommended that such publications be prohibited and that the council judiciary committee draft the proper legislation.

"At the outset," the resolution read, "we are confronted by a tremendous and never ceasing amount of suggestions for murderous crimes. Detective stories, gangster stories, gun moll stories and racketeering stories by the millions and millions of copies, week after week, encourage those who are mentally defective to contemplate murder and execute the crime as opportunity offers."

Arms Practice For Guardsmen

National Guards Prepare For Scheduled Combat Maneuvers Next Week

BIG RANGES KEPT BUSY

(International News Service)

CAMP O'NEIL, MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 29.—In preparation for several days of combat maneuvers scheduled for next week, more than 5000 soldiers of the Pennsylvania National Guard now in the field completed a week of musketry practice today on the small arms ranges.

Infantry regiments of the 55th Brigade, under command of Brigadier General Edward Martin, fired their guns at the big bullseyes of the large rifle range and practiced in bayonet drill and hand grenade throwing. Companies of this brigade, which are recruited in western and northeastern Pennsylvania cities, will break camp here next Tuesday and take to the road for a two-day march and maneuvers against a mythical enemy.

More than 50 miles will be covered by the guardsmen before the tactical exercises are completed. They will cover part of the distance in army trucks and spend one night in Bivouac in the fields 20 miles north of here.

Mounted guardsmen of the 104th Cavalry regiment from central Pennsylvania will comprise the enemy.

PICNIC JARS

Save all the small glass screw-top jars in which you buy peanut butter, etc., and use them when packing picnic lunches. They are just right to hold individual portions of fruit or salad. If they are not all exactly the same size, neither are the appetites.

Report Storm Did Little Damage To P. R. R. Wires Here

Little damage to communication wires of the Pennsylvania railroad in the New Castle district or in the entire E. & A. division territory from last night's storm was reported to the road's divisional offices here today.

Supervisor of Telegraph and Signals O. A. Ishler, whose jurisdiction extends over the entire Lake Grand division, announced no destruction of any consequence had been reported to him by noon from E. & A. points.

The storm's fury, however, dealt a harder blow to the Cleveland division territory, it was said. Near Gambier, O., six miles from Mt. Vernon, 12 telephone poles were blown to the ground. But a few blocked right-of-way traffic. Regular service was not interrupted.

Other points of the old Akron division, now merged with the Cleveland, wired that telegraph lines and other property had suffered from the storm.

Curtis became angry, police said, and launched into a defense of his record in favor of legislation for veterans.

Police sought to arrest one man for investigation, but he escaped. They warned several others not to approach the train observation platform from which the vice president spoke.

Curtis was to arrive in Los Angeles today.

Protest Plans Of P. & L. E. Line To Abandon Station

P. & L. E. Seeks To Abandon South Heights Borough Station In Beaver County

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Complaint against the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad's abandoning or discontinuing an agency station at South Heights borough, Beaver county, was filed today with the Public Service Commission by the borough officials, the school board and the South Heights Civic Association.

The complaint set forth 29 reasons why the agency station should not be abolished. It is averred that the station operates at a profit, that it is on the main line between Erie and Pittsburgh, that the residents would be greatly inconvenienced and property values depreciated if the proposed change were made.

No Noticable Damage At Park

New Trial Refused Mrs. Robert Adams

Court Not Convinced There Was Any Effort By Clarence Cotton To Influence Juror

In an opinion handed down at court by Judge R. L. Hildebrand this morning, a new trial is refused in the case of Mrs. Robert Adams against Clarence M. Cotton.

In this case Cotton owned a property at 117 Atlantic avenue, for which C. J. Burke was the agent. Mrs. Adams, who formerly lived at 201 Boyles avenue, rented the property of Cotton from Burke. The agreement was oral. Mrs. Adams moved into the house, but a little later secured a place on the New Castle-Ellwood road and moved a part of her furniture to it.

When she came to get the balance it was missing. She brought suit against Cotton for furniture valued at $143.75 and also for $100 damage for inconvenience, making a total of $243.75. At the trial of the case Cotton denied that he had anything whatever to do with the removal of the furniture which Mrs. Adams had left at the Atlantic avenue house. He did not know what had become of it. He claimed Mrs. Adams moved out owing him rent and that there were also gas and electric bills which he had to pay. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Cotton.

Mrs. Adams asked for a new trial, principally on the grounds that she had seen Cotton talking to a juror during the trial of the case, and claiming that Cotton had solicited the juror to bring in a verdict for defendant. The court afterwards heard the testimony of Mrs. Hattie Smock to the effect that she had called Mrs. Adams' attention to Cotton's talking to a juror. Mrs. Adams also testified to this effect. Cotton admitted that she had spoken to a juror on the stairs at the courthouse, but said that the conversation was not about the trial at all. The juror had asked him if he was any relation to Floyd Cotton and he had told him that Floyd was a second cousin. The court is not satisfied that there was any attempt to influence a juror and so refuses a new trial.

JEAN BOROTRA BEATS VINES

American Tennis Act Is Defeated By Veteran Frenchman In Davis Cup Play

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROLAND, GARROS STADIUM, Paris, July 29.—America's bid for the Davis cup, held by France since 1927, received an unexpected setback at the outset of the challenge round this afternoon when Jean Borotra, veteran basque ace, trounced Ellsworth Vines of the United States.

The score was 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Defeat of Vines, American and British champion, was an utterly unlooked for upset and threatened to smash American hopes of lifting the cup.

Borotra, the weakest member of the French squad, had not been conceded a serious chance against the brilliant American, who carved himself a niche in the hall of tennis immortals at Wimbledon and in the inter-zone Davis cup matches.

Why Boil Away COSTLY FRUIT JUICE?

ASKS THIS CHAMPION JELLY MAKER

. . . Why not turn every last bit into delicious tasting jam . . . and thus save 2½¢ per glass?

BY Mrs. J. O. Schon
NEBRASKA STATE JELLY CHAMPION

"This year's fruit is the finest and cheapest we have had in years. And I know that hundreds of women reading this newspaper are going to take advantage of this fact and put up jams and jellies for the long winter months ahead.

"And I hope they will all use Certo! For Certo will save them, just as it saves me, a really considerable amount of money.

"With Certo, you see, only 1 minute's hard boiling time is necessary to make jelly from any fruit . . . and for most fruits even less.

"And thus hardly a single bit of juice has time to boil away in wasteful steam . . . with the result that you get one-half again more glasses from the same amount of fruit. Last year this saved me from 2 to 5¢ on every glass of jam or jelly that I made.

"And, of course, this Certo one-minute boil saves considerable time too. Indeed, I find it an easy matter to make a full batch of jelly in 12 minutes from the time I put my fruit juice and sugar on to cook."

Mrs. Schon's Certo-made jellies and jams have been awarded an almost endless succession of State Fair prizes during the past few seasons, for flavor, texture and color. In the last three years she has won 15 prizes at the Nebraska State Fair. And she is only one of the 5,000,000 jelly makers who are using this magical product.

Why don't you do as Mrs. Schon suggests and order a supply of Certo today with your fruit and other jelly making supplies? Simply follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle . . . and you can't go wrong. Don't delay. Get your bottle of Certo from your grocer today. It is a product of General Foods Corporation.

WHAT LAKE CARGO MEANS TO STATE

Results of the desperate battle waged by the Pennsylvania bituminous industry to retain the "Lake Cargo" market are graphically shown in the chart above, prepared by the Greater Pennsylvania Council for the Council's forthcoming bulletins on the plight of the Pennsylvania coal industry.

"Lake Cargo" coal is coal carried by rail from the mines to Lake Erie to be shipped by boat to Canada and the Northwest. Each coal-car on the chart represents one million tons. Thus the chart shows that Pennsylvania's "Lake Cargo" coal shipments declined from about 10,600,000 tons in 1914 to 4,300,000 tons in 1924, recovering to 7,800,000 tons in 1929.

Meanwhile, shipments from West Virginia rose from 4,300,000 tons in 1909, to 19,560,000 tons in 1929! And Kentucky's Lake Cargo shipments rose from 7,849 tons in 1909 to 6,800,000 in 1929!

Why has Pennsylvania not even held her own in this great coal market, while shipments from mines twice as far away have increased nearly six-fold? Freight rates which discriminate against Pennsylvania producers, the Council declares.

Corn Borer Guard Will Be Dropped, Funds Are Lacking

State Will Continue To Warn Farmers Regarding Infection In Corn Crops

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 29.—Lack of funds tomorrow will remove the corn borer quarantine now in effect in the entire northwestern area of the state.

The state's action, as announced today, is in line with the federal policy of abandoning expenditures for guards because funds were not available.

The corn borer was first found in Erie county in 1919.

As the area spread guards, paid jointly by federal and state funds, were maintained at the limits of the infested sectors to prevent movement of produce into sections not yet affected.

Although the guards will be removed entirely the state department of agriculture intends to continue scouting to advise farmers of the presence of borers and to assist in clean-up methods.

Police Probe Rumor Of Arms In Auto

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Police laid a dragnet about the city today in an effort to apprehend six men, who police were informed, were en route to Washington in an automobile with machine guns and ammunition for the bonus seekers.

Search for the men started when William Tulley, 26, attendant at a gasoline service station, in Frankford, told police that the automobile drove up to the station early this morning and one of the men shouted for him to "hurry up, give us five gallons of gas. We're on our way to Washington.

"We have a load of machine guns and ammunition on the floor of the car."

Heavy Storm At Boy Scout Camp

Storm Breaks As Boys Are At Supper—News Notes Of Camp

Special To The News)

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 29.—George Marquis, the new cannoneer, woke the scouts of Camp Phillips with a bang. Then as taps was blown the fellows laid in their beds and listened to rain pattering on the roofs of their huts. It started to storm as the boys were eating their supper. It was swell while it lasted. Lightning, thunder and hail as big as golf balls. Ed. McCreary was nailing a curtain down when a hail stone hit his hand. Ed. thought he had hit himself with the hammer. After the storm some of the fellows discovered the falls. Water draining from nearby fields and roads had swelled a usually small falls running into the Slippery Rock Creek into a regular cataract. This spot was just about as popular with the boys all evening at Niagara is with tourists.

The unusually fine campfire programs the camp has been having all this week were made five, Thursday evening by an exhibition of Indian arrowheads, stone knives, axes, tomahawks, and trinkets valued at approximately five thousand dollars by their owner and demonstrator, Mr. Bennett, of Beaver Falls. Every time another exhibit was brought out the scouts would ask its value. They almost fainted when told that one was valued at $1500. Mr. Bennett was secured by Mr. A. P. Davidson of Beaver Falls, father of one of the campers.

At the color ceremony Cliff Mathis proved himself altogether too quick with the trigger. Just after he had loaded the cannon he stepped on the trigger string and—the cannon spoke its piece before it was supposed to. It was at this ceremony that George Horton was presented with his first year emblem. Second year emblems were presented to the following: Bud McCamic, Bill Shira, Bob Miner, Dick Hamilton, Bud Coss, Cliff Mathis, and Bob Moore.

The boys in Circle Hut must like the looks of that inspection banner hanging on their hut and have decided to keep it. They have managed to do so for three days now. The other huts must like to have it hanging there too.

The Junior Red Cross life saving tests were completed this afternoon, Sandy Howard examining. The eight who passed out of the original twelve taking the test are: McClure, Ferris, McCaslin, Gelbach, Bartel, Falls, Robertson, and Stein.

Court of Honor will be held at camp to norrow night and scouts at camp and at home who have earned badges are to present themselves at 8:30 D. S. T. The scouts are looking forward to this event as a fitting climax to the eighth season of Camp John M. Phillips.

Monte-Carlo Now Cuban In Effort To Lure Tourists

(International News Service)

MONTE CARLO, July 29.—Visitors to Monte Carlo this summer are getting a Cuban "glad-hand" welcome.

Cuban music and gambling games are jazzing up the jaded and blase crowd of pleasure-seeking tourists, who are tired of negro syncopation, roulette and baccarat.

While old-time conservative diehards are watching the spinning ball and listening to the Blue Danube in the lower rooms of the Casino, sensation seekers are risking their money at Cuban games of chance to the strains of Cuban music.

Jean Le Seyeux, director of the Folies-Bergeres and the genius behind all Monte Carlo's entertainment programs, has given Harlem the go-by and traveled on to Cuba for his fun-making troupe.

Sinuous Cuban night-life beauties are doing their specialty acts in the Casino's new Cuban night club, with Don Aspiazu and his band presiding, and even the Riviera "gigolos are learning the rumba and taking Spanish lessons."

Buffalo Herd Drank River Nearly Dry

(International News Service)

McPHERSON, Kan., July 29. — Old-timers in this part of Kansas like to tell about the time that a herd of buffalo drank the Smoky Hill river dry.

It was in the summer of 1868, they agree. That summer vegetation was sparse and the buffalo herds had to travel far to make out a square meal.

One dry, hot day a herd of buffalo, extending for 30 miles across the barren prairies, arrived at the Smoky Hill. Hundreds of thousands of thirsty animals began to drink at the same time, and for hours the river below them was practically dry.

Queen Smiles As London Orphan Calls Her "Miss"

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 29—Referring to the Queen of England as "Miss" a boy-inmate of a London foundling home made the royal visitor laugh.

Visiting a London foundling home on a tour of inspection, the Queen came upon the small boy in the garden where he was vigorously pulling up weeds.

Pointing to a weed which the boy held in one hand, the Queen said: "What is that? A thistle?"

And the boy replied: "Yes, miss."

Science Confirms What Is Known To All Hubbies

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 29—Never argue with a woman, it is useless.

This is the view of a number of British doctors and scientists who have jointly written a book on, "Preparation for Marriage."

The foreward of the book is written by the Bishop of Liverpool who says, "Marriage, like other great undertakings, calls for a preparation which cannot be left to Nature alone."

Here are some of the challenging opinions expressed by the authors:

"When a man attempts to prove that what he says is reasonable let him realize that to the woman his arguments are useless. They are but the dressed-up puppets with which men amuse themselves."

"Woman is as different from man in her intellectual and emotional make-up as she is physically:

"Emotionals play a far greater part in the life of a woman than they do in that of a man."

Uphold Right Of Man To Kiss Wife

(International News Service)

DENVER, July 29.—The right of A. B. Wheat of Denver to kiss his wife on the state capitol grounds was recently upheld by Denver police.

Responding to a complaint that a "necking party" was in progress, two patrolmen rushed to the capitol grounds and arrested Wheat.

"Is a man entitled to kiss his wife on the state capitol grounds?" Wheat asked Police Sergt. Charles Conroy when brought to police headquarters.

"There isn't any law against that," Sergeant Conroy told Wheat. "In fact, you've got the law on your side. Any time you want to kiss your wife, you'll find us right behind you."

Judge Plays Ace As Jury Cuts Cards

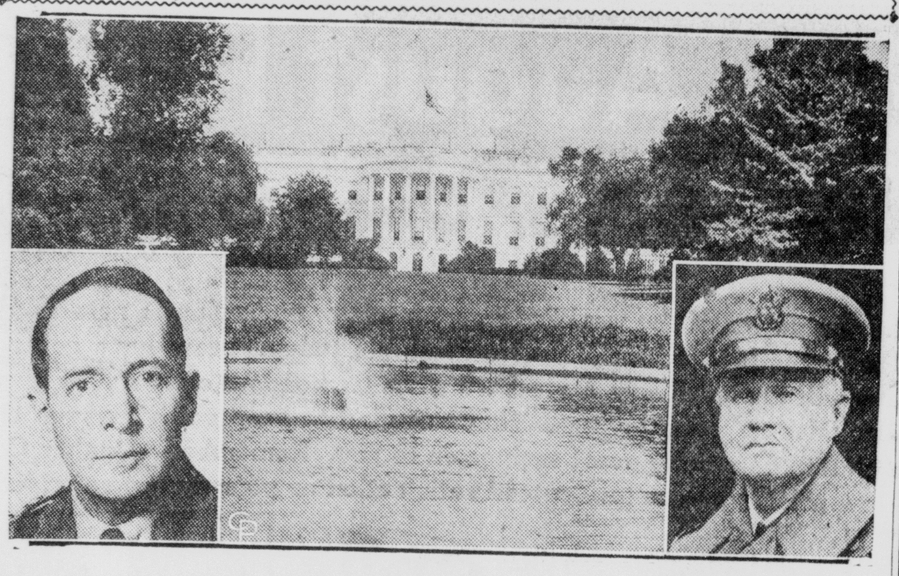

(International News Service)

UTICA, N. Y.—Jurors considering a cutting case in county court here cut the cards instead of tending to business and as a result were subjected to cutting remarks of the judge.

County Judge Frederick H. Hazard called in the jurymen and told them he had learned they were playing cards and that they had better "exercise your brains on this case until you reach a verdict."

Case under consideration: Francis King, Marcy, charged with first degree assault for alleged attack on Frank Rhinebeck, a neighbor, with a razor at a party.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold their regular meeting and annual picnic at the camp of Mrs. Roy Cummings Tuesday evening, Aug. 2. Each member and her family is invited to attend the affair, which will be in the form of a basket picnic.

At a special meeting of the school board Monday evening, July 25, the board voted to close the school gymnasium for the coming year. Health classes will be held in the basement of the school and the "Swiss" system of calisthenics employed. This will make it unnecessary for the pupils to go across town in all kinds of weather for their health classes. Another reason given by members of the board was to cut down expenses. It costs the district from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars a year to keep the gym in operation.

The street department is busily engaged in rounding the corners of Market and Neshannock avenues near the Diamond. This is a decided improvement in the beauty of the corner and also a much safer way of keeping accidents at the minimum.

Those who attended the annual Methodist Sunday school picnic at Buhl Park yesterday were satisfied that it was one of the best picnics held in recent years. Mushball and horseshoes were enjoyed by the men of the school, while races were held in which the women participated.

Maybe virtue doesn't pay in a party row. Those accused of breaking their word are always the winners.

Ralph Hilliard Likes Service On Battleship

Tells Of Interesting Occurences In His Life Since Joining Navy

Ralph Hilliard, who enlisted here for service in the United States Navy through Chief Boatswain's Mate F. R. Allison a number of months ago and who is now on the United States Battleship New York, which is assigned to the Pacific Fleet, has just written an interesting letter to the officer here. He tells of happenings since he enlisted and how he is enjoying the service.

His letter follows:—"Dear Mr. Allison—As I have nothing to do the rest of the evening, will write you a few lines as I promised. I have been quite a while in writing but just neglected it.

We were all transported from the training station to the west coast, instead of the east as I told you. We were all sent to battleships. I am having a good time and have no kick coming.

We anchored off San Barbara Island and are preparing to fire short range. I guess we fire tomorrow. We have a three star admiral on board now. He came from the West Virginia. He is only on for six weeks, while it is in the navy yard.

We sail for San Francisco on twenty fifth then back to Pedro and on August 15, we go to Seattle.

Life aboard ship is sure a lot different than in the training school, and I like it much better.

We were out towing target for the "Okey" yesterday. It was some job, when you have to get out and repair the target. They made a pretty good score.

This was a great day on board ship, being as it was payday. How is everything going back there. Many new fellows coming through now? Well it is pretty near time for the movies and I have another letter to write home. Answer and let me know how everything is going.

Your friend.
RALPH HILLIARD.

Game Abundant Near Clearfield

Observers Say That Large And Small Game Is Numerous

DUBOIS, Pa., July 29.—The hills of Pennsylvania hold a treat for the hunter and his dog, not to be touched until the first chill winds of November steal the withered leaves from the trees.

Observers, trampling through the heavy woodland stretch that marks the "deer country" from Dubois to Driftwood, come back with the news that they never have seen so much small game in the mountains.

Deer, they feared for a while, would be scarce, but state game officials reassure them they will be plentiful. In addition there will be small birds and animals to gladden the heart of the sportsmen.

Ever the gray squirrel, not often seen in these parts, scurries here and there.

Rabbits and birds are seen everywhere. The "warm" winter, dry spring and lack of forest fires have blessed the little game, and the autumn will offer more prizes than ever to hunters.

Even some old timers suggested that last winter's heavy toll of deer had cut deep into the game population, but state officials assert the animals are simply hiding or have been driven from camp sites.

Four County Council Is Entertained By Local Auxiliary

Nearly 160 Assemble At Ellwood Country Club For Regular Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, July 29.—The largest delegation of the year occurred at the Ellwood City Country Club Thursday afternoon, where the Four-County Council members assembled for their regular bimonthly meeting, with the local Legion Auxiliary acting as hostesses.

The dining room of the country club represented a veritable flower garden. The several tables were centered with the choice flowers. At dinner covers were laid for 157. When the excellent menu had been disposed of, Mrs. Andy Funk rendered a piano selection and a vocal colo. Mrs. George C. Nicklas delivered the address of welcome.

Special guests present at the time included the Mesdames W. J. Lloyd of Uniontown, C. V. Homer of Greenville, C. W. Dressler and Frederick Moore of Pittsburgh, Joseph Thompson of Beaver Falls, William Lougom of Beaver, and the following local Gold Star mothers: Mrs. Margaret Buquo, Mrs. Duira Randolph, Mrs. Della Hennon, Mrs. Edward Keeler and Mrs. Flora Majors.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Hennon, the oldest guests present, received a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Fred Swanson, local auxiliary executive, was presented with the door prize later in the day.

Served Jail Term And Is Released

Fred Innocenti Unable To Pay $100 Assessed At The Time Of His Parole

Fred Innocenti of Wayne township was released from the Lawrence county jail this morning, where he was placed about one month ago on account of his inability to comply with the terms of a parole granted at the March term of court.

Innocenti's case was somewhat unusual, as he was arrested on a charge of driving a horse drawn vehicle while under the influence of liquor. An Ellwood City constable had to ditch his machine in order to escape striking Innocenti's wagon on the Ellwood-Wurtemburg road. At the trial of the case Innocenti denied that he was under the influence of liquor.

He was paroled with the understanding that he pay $100 and costs. As he was unable to raise the money he was placed in jail about June 29. The court this morning sentenced him for thirty days to jail dating from the time that he had been placed in jail, and as the thirty days has expired he was released.

J. Reed Carpenter Tells Of Germany To Rotary Club

ELLWOOD CITY, July 29.—One of the most interesting of the year was the meeting held by the members of the local Rotary Club in the First Presbyterian church last night. The meeting was not only a success from the viewpoint of a fine program for the evening, but the club was nearly a hundred per cent strong.

The drawing card evidently was the announcement that J. Reed Carpenter, who recently returned from Germany, where he spent two years, would speak on that country. In an interesting manner Mr. Carpenter told of the political, religious and social conditions of Germany. He answered many questions during his talk. Following this a general discussion on the subject was held by those present. Mr. Carpenter is of the opinion that the Republican form of government is popular in Germany and is in to stay.

Many Attend High Hatters Dance

ELLWOOD CITY, July 29.—The High Hatters Club of Beaver Falls had their hands quite full entertaining one of the best crowds of the season at their dance in the Shelby Auditorium last night. Beautiful colored lights greatly enhanced the occasion.

At 12 o'clock a bountiful picnic dinner was served from well filled baskets which appeased the keen appetites of those attending. The success of the dinner was due to the well planned arrangements of the following committees: table, Robert Leonhardt, Mrs. E. R. Leonhardt and Mrs. William Walton; coffee, Mrs. Fred Young, Mrs. Delilah Walton and Mrs. C. S. Leonhardt, and arrangements, E. R. Leonhardt, J. F. Young and William Walton.

Games and contests of many kinds occupied the attention of those present and a weiner and marshmallow roast which was to have been held outside was enjoyed inside on account of the electrical storm here last night.

The next regular meeting will be held during the last of August at the home of the Misses Bessie and Lulu Collins of near North Sewickley.

London debs are wearing dance frocks of Turkish toweling for riverside dancing it is said. If they wish to punt between dances, they can do so without spoiling their frocks. Little tailored jackets of cire satin—also able to withstand water—accompany the frocks.

Spread the berries and small fruits out in flat pans if they must be put away for any length of time. They will keep fresher.

Lightning, it appears from scientific research, can strike from the bottom as well as the top. Which may go part way toward explaining congress.—The Minneapolis Journal.

HOW TRADE OF BRITISH EMPIRE WITH UNITED STATES IS DISTRIBUTED

TRADE DISTRIBUTION

Trade between the British Empire and the United States in 1930, the last complete year during which the pound sterling was on the gold standard (equal to $4.86), was as follows:

	Exports	Imports	Total
Great Britain and dominions—	$915,000,000	$1,855,000,000	$2,770,000,000
India—	130,000,000	63,000,000	193,000,000
Crown colonies—	56,000,000	202,000,000	258,000,000
	$1,101,000,000	$2,120,000,000	$3,221,000,000

The empire's trade with the remainder of the world approximated:

Exports	$3,450,000,000
Imports	4,192,000,000
Total	$7,642,000,000

The British Imperial Economic conference may have a vital effect on American trade, if tariff barriers are still further raised. Figures above show volume of British-American trade in 1930. The vast extent of the British dependencies involved in the conference is illustrated in the map above. These dominions may arrive at an economic consolidation with the United Kingdom and thus present a united tariff front which may loom very formidable to the United States, whose chief trade is with the British people.

The Season Seems To Be Starting Unusually Early This Year

World's Second Largest City Will Be Tokyo

London Will Drop To Third Place, New York First

TOKYO, July 29—"The second largest city in the world" will be Tokyo's designation after October first. On that date, formal amalgamation of the present capital with 82 suburban communities of the town and village class will take place.

Tokyo's present population is slightly over 2,000,000. Greater Tokyo will have 4,970,000 inhabitants, making it second only to New York City. London, with 4,450,000 will be third.

The suburbs of Tokyo have developed phenomenally, especially since the earthquake of 1923. The urban district extends for many miles beyond the present political boundaries of the city. It is to bring these communities, which are part of Tokyo in all but name, into the general fold that the enlargement will be made.

The Home Ministry of the Japanese Government has made an extensive report on the idea. Printed, the document fills nearly a thousand pages. The subjests of administration, city planning, financial arrangements and interrelation of parts have been thoroughly studied and discussed. Noboru Tanekawa, deputy mayor and University of Illinois graduate, made the report.

Tokyo's area, after the merger, will be about 220 square miles. Proponents of the amalgamation project say that the enlargement is really needed, since five-sixths of the area and half of the population of what is now considered Tokyo is actually outside the city.

The plan, which now needs only the formal approval of the Tokyo city council, is deemed certain to pass. The idea has been carried forward largely through the enthusiasm of Hidejiro Nagata, Mayor of the City of Tokyo. If it reaches fulfillment he will be the first mayor of the enlarged city.

At present Hanshin, the industrial community formed by two cities of Kobe and Osaka is the third largest city in the world. The forthcoming merger will give Japan the second and fourth cities of the world in point of population.

Apparent Attempt To Commit Suicide Made By Actress

Lina Basquette Reported To Have Tried To End Own Life

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—After writing a note to "Jack", Lina Basquette, beautiful film dancer and actress, made an apparent attempt to commit suicide in her Hollywood home today, according to police.

After breaking through a door at her home police found Miss Basquette in agony on a divan. In her home, police said, was her former manager, Teddy Hayes.

She told them that she had swallowed poison, but Dr. George M. Halmkamp, police surgeon, declared that if the actress had taken poison the amount was small.

Miss Basquette returned to her home after an hour at the police hospital.

Police said that the note addressed to "Jack" read:

"I love you, only you. I couldn't help it. I couldn't go on without you."

Friends said that the note had been intended for Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, with whom Miss Basquette had been appearing in vaudeville.

Double Duty Hens Cackle Too Loud For Suburbanites

(International News Service)

DEERFIELD, Ill., July 29.—Hens that lay two eggs a day may be fine for outlying farming districts, but they're a nuisance to the residents of this exclusive residential suburb of Chicago.

Four hundred chickens, laying two eggs a day some days, mean 800 loud cackles.

And the neighbors of Edwin F. Weigle, pioneer poultryman, find that it disturbs their peace.

So they signed a petition urging the mayor and the village trustees to pass an ordinance prohibiting the raising of hens and roosters within the town limits.

But Weigle is indignant. "The village should be proud of my 400 hens. I've been trying to raise hens here for ten years, trying to develop scientifically a hen that will lay two eggs a day the year 'round and I'm making good progress," he said.

Meanwhile he was busy constructing another coop, hoping to complete it before the new ordinance is passed.

Many of his chickens, he explained, expect blessed events in a few days and he hopes to have them in his new coop before they are outlawed. For the ordinance he said, could not be made retroactive.

City Ruling Forbids All Males To Shave

(International News Service)

CENTRALLIA, Wash., July 29.—Centralia's ordinance forbidding male citizens the right to shave or have their hair cut is again in force and will remain in effect until the conclusion of Southwest Washington's annual pioneer picnic August 3-4.

The edic requires all male citizens to wear some form of whiskers, beards, moustaches, sideburns or other hirsute adornment becoming the individual. Should any man fail to raise a crop of whiskers he will be placed in the public stocks erected in the civic center. A committee of vigilantes is entrusted with the enforcement of the ordinance.

Not content with the hair growing movement, the entire population has again taken up the pioneer idea by wearing stovepipe hats, early day frills, furbelows, pantellets, sunbonnets and hoop skirts. Storefronts in the downtown districts have been transformed into maniature blockhouses and log cabins to produce the necessary pioneer atmosphere.

Dr. Bob Jones Speaks On Revival

First Presbyterian Church Is Filled Thursday Evening To Hear Southerner Speak

Dr. Bob Jones, famous evangelist of Florida, was the speaker Thursday evening in the First Presbyterian church, and the auditorium and Sunday School room were filled with those interested in the spiritual welfare of the city.

"Revival or Revolution" was the theme of his address, which he gave in his fiery southern manner. He stressed the fact that the God of Israel, who led the children of Israel through their trials and temptations, was the same God as we have today, and the sooner the people learn to lean on this same Jehovah and make his ways their ways, the sooner the whole world will be put into a better economical and spiritual condition.

The audience was well pleased with Dr. Jones, whose first appearance it was in the city.

Use Fifteen Oxen To Get Disease Serum

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 29.—Fifteen oxen are required for a newly discovered treatment for Addison's disease.

Successful results of the treatment have been obtained at a London hospital.

Fortunately the disease which attacks the pituitary gland and stops growth is rare, for the expense of extracting one dose of serum from 15 oxen is enormous.

The life of one patient was saved with this new treatment, but $125 was spent on him to do it, and the treatment continued to cost $5 a day.

Recalls Boom Days Of San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 29.—A city of tents and sand dunes; gun fighting every day in the streets; a shack, the only school house in town. That was the San Francisco that Mrs. Mary Prag saw eighty years ago.

Mrs. Prag, former member of the board of education, said she came with her parents across the Isthmus by way of Nicaragua landing in San Francisco at Washington and Montgomery streets, then the docks, now the site of tall office buildings.

"I didn't like the city at first," she said. "But I think I'll learn to like it soon."

Stole Locomotive To Satisfy Desires

CARRIZOZO, N. M., July 29—Rafael Hernandez, 20, of Chihuahua, Mexico, for some reason which he failed to reveal, wanted to ride on a locomotive.

He walked into the Southern Pacific railroad roundhouse here, stole a locomotive and drove it 800 feet down the track. A mixed freight and passenger train standing on the track at this point brought the locomotive to sudden halt.

Hernandez was jailed while railroad officials attempted to find the reason for his unusual theft.

U. S. Favored To Win Tenth Olympic Games

Americans Have Edge In Track Events And Defeat Is Almost Impossible

FOREIGNERS ARE TRAING HARD

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, July 29—It is quite mystifying how the faith in American athletes has wilted these past ten days in the face of tinkling ballyhoo in behalf of the Europeans and Orientals who will match muscles with out lads in the tenth Olympiad.

The once superlative belief in the prowess of the hombreds has shriveled to such an almost irreducible minimum that, according to the morbid, the U. S. A. will be most fortunate to snatch a couple of thirds and maybe two or three fourth places.

So Much Hokum

All of which is just hokum jokum.

The U. S. A. should win in a romp.

It should snag at least 10 championships.

With Finland, the runner-up gaining no more than 4 or 5.

Just why this sadness and woe, just why this weird idea that has gained in size and momentum these past few days that the U. S. A. squad is a band of wood nymphs with blisters on the triblies and crutches under each arm, is difficult to diagnose. The only explanation might be that the U. S. A. is moaning as a sort of sporting gesture toward the rival nations—a bit of advance cheerio and such.

Americans Are Good

Ralph Metcalfe, Eddie Tolan, Geo. Simpson, Bill Carr, Ken Hallowell, Frank Crowley and Gene Cunningham proved conclusively that they "edge" the others in track brilliance That was occasion for great shouting and much hullaballoo. But instead the merry villagers and the trouping tourists have acquired the inexplicable idea that these defenders—plus the others—cannot roll back the foreign thrust on track and field.

Pouf, pouf.

It should be simple.

Pirates Annex Two More Games

Pirates Humble Giants 10 To 7 And 9 To 1, Tony Piet Hits Two Homers

BABE RUTH HITS TWO MORE HOMERS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 29.—One of the biggest players in the majors and one of the smallest performed the same feat yesterday—hitting two home runs and driving in seven runs.

The big man—G. Herman Ruth, celebrated cripple of the Yankees, jumped off the hospital list and into the lineup in dramatic fashion just when the disorganized Yankees most needed his inspiring leadership.

Pirates Win Two

The little man—Tony Piet of the Pirates. But his feat was just as noteworthy. He clouted his two homers and two singles (Ruth hit his 27th and 28th homers and a double) as the Pirates made it five straight wins over the Giants, 9 to 1, behind Heinie Meine's pitching. The Bucs also won the opener, 10 to 7.

Charley Ruffing held Cleveland to five hits, winning 10 to 1 with Babe's aid.

The lowly Boston Red Sox astounded even themselves winning their third straight from the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1.

The Athletics were beaten by Detroit, 4 to 2.

Walter Stewart pitched the Browns to a 6 to 4 win over Washington.

Cubs Top Braves

The Chicago Cubs trimmed Boston 4 to 1 as Lon Warneke won his 16th win of the season and his ninth in a row.

After losing their fourth straight to Brooklyn by a 9 to 6 count, the champion St. Louis Cardinals took the second game of a twin bill, 8 to 6.

George Grantham's homer with two aboard in the ninth gave Cincinnati a 7 to 4 verdict over the Phillies.

Herman Green Is Winner Of Field Club Handicap

Defeats David Kay, Jr., In The Finals Of The Event At Field Club Course

Finals in the June Handicap event of the New Castle Field Club have been completed and the entire event has demonstrated that there is an entirely new group of the younger generation of golfers to be reckoned with in the future in the competitions of the club.

The winner of the finals and of the event is Herman Green, who in order to take the event had to eliminate David Kay, Jr., who is one of the real golfers of the club and may be reckoned on in all competitions for some time to come.

Herman Green, the winner, has been one of the contenders in various events of the club for some time and had to extend himself to a considerable extent in winning from Kay by the score of 3 up and 2 to go in the thirty-six hole finals match. The match attracted considerable attention.

Tennis Tourney Plans Are Made

Plans are being made by Tully Caiazza, to sponsor another fast tennis tournament here this summer. It will be the Third Annual tourney for New Castle, and is expected to draw more than 100 tennis players, as the game seems well on its way to a big revival here in New Castle. There are far more tennis courts now than a few years ago and more youngsters seem to be taking up the game.

Further details of the tourney will be made at a later date.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

International Amateur Athletic federation has barred Paavo Nurmi of Finland from the Olympic games. The federation voted to reject his entry after a hearing. The question of declaring Nurmi a professional did not enter into the action. The commission merely rejected his entry on what it considered "good and sufficient grounds" and closed the case.

Leo Sexton, giant New York A. C. weight man and national shotput champion, heaved the 16 pound iron ball 53 feet 10½ inches in his final workout for the Olympic games at Los Angeles. This is 15 inches beyond the listed world record.

Sid Wood, Jr., of New York and Gregory Mangin, Newark, who were partners on a recent tennis jaunt to Great Britain, will be opponents in the men's singles final of the Seabright club's invitation tennis tourney today.

Bell Phones Are Leading League

Take First Place Last Evening Due To Forfeit By Bankers Sextet

Bell Telephone took the lead in the New Castle Golf League last evening when the Bankers failed to show up for their match at the Municipal links last evening, while the Shenango Tin sextet held the S. S. Merchants comparatively even in their match.

Better golf was played last evening than has been manifest during the two opening struggles in the league and the new handicap system put the play on a more even basis.

Many of the matches between the individual players were halved, while in most cases the winners came in but a hole ahead of their opponents, which is providing zest to the league play.

Next week's matches will be played at Castle Hills.

The results last evening were as follows; Penna. R. R. defeated Penna Power 6 to 0; Pennsylvania Engineering defeated the Dentists 5 to 1; Rieck-McJunkin defeated the News 4 to 2; South Side Merchants defeated Shenango Tin 3½ to 2½; Bell Telephone defeated the Bankers, 6 to 0; Blair Strip Steel defeated Reynolds, Summers and McCann, score incomplete.

The standing of the teams and schedule for next week will be published later.

Postponed Game Will Be Played

Mahoning A. A. and Volant will play a postponed Twilight League game at the Volant field at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening, it was announced today. A good game is looked for.

PLAY CLIFTON FLATS

Smiths have won five and lost one in the City Mushball league and are one game behind the Lockleys to whom they have lost two games this half. In the first half they lost two to the National Radiators.

Leonard Beats Billy Townsend

Benny Leonard Like Master Of Old Out-Boxes Vancouver Scrapper

LEONARD TALKS GREAT BATTLE

By HYPE IGOE
International News Service Sports Writer
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 29.—Hoping and trusting, too, am I, that when a brand new straw skimmer lands in the middle of her uptown parlor, Missus Minnie Leonard won't consider me vulgar.

Missus Minnie, I'm the rapscallion rascal who chucked in the lid!

Had you been on Long Island, in Mister Simon Flaherty's Pine Bowl, the Queensboro Club, you'd have wound up, probably, chucking kisses to your "baby."

I saw your Benny when he was great.

Last night, in Mister Flaherty's Bowl, I saw the re-incarnation of the ring genius I admired.

Boxing Is Supreme

He out-thought this "Billy the Kid" Townsend of Vancouver, in the process of out-guessing bad Billy, who in realty, Missus Minnie, is a swell blond kid, it would have been gorgeous to have had you there. Prettier boxing never have I seen.

Your gentle "baby," Missus Minnie, wound up and shot pugilistic death and destruction toward bad Billy's chin.

I saw them in the dressing room afterwards. That was a privilege so few enjoy.

Bad "Billy the Kid" was laughing softly to himself.

"I don't mind being outboxed by a fellow who was a champion but I do bar kidding. I had that fellow going in the fourth and he grabbed me and chuckled: 'Don't be silly, Billy, and try to knock me out. The minute you step back I'm going to flatten your beak.'

"And if you think he didn't—ask me beezer!"

Amateur Baseball

The Harleys would like to book games with any team under 15 years of age. Get in touch with Jack Richards.

Marcella Midgets defeated the Fardales 26 to 11 in a baseball game played at Marcella field.

Smith's A. C. lost to the Harleys in a mushball game at B. & O. field. The score was 2 to 1. The game was close and hard fought in every inning.

M. & D. Midgets bested the Pearson A. C. 8 to 7 in a mushball game at Dean park. F. Copple tripled in the ninth with the bases loaded to win the game.

JULIANAS WIN GAMES

Julianas mushball team won from Bessemer 10 to 6 at the Bessemer field. It was the 14th victory of the year for the Julianas team. It was the first defeat for the Bessemer team. Maille, P. Juliana, and P. Perrotta hit triples for the winners. The Julianas have just recently reorganized and would like to book games with Criscis, Lockleys, or any of the city or church league teams. Call 5212 or 1405-R and ask for Patsy Juliana.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Heavy Profit Taking Appears And Has Some Effect

RAILS ARE FACTORS IN HEAVY TRADING

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 29.—The stock market slowed down today after its spectacular recovery of the last few days. Heavy profit-taking appeared and leaders dropped 1 to 2 points.

Group operations developed in specialties, alcohol stocks were higher on their earnings reports for the first half, showing a big improvement over 1931. American Commercial Alcohol went to a new high for the year. Johns Manville was a strong specialty.

Rails came into the foreground again after dropping 1 to 2 points in the first hour. N. Y. Central was the leader in large-scale trading, running up nearly a point. Oils were sluggish on further profit-taking.

Air Reduction was strong in sympathy with the alcohol group, with which it is identified. Consolidated Gas and American Can were two leaders that gave ground stubbornly in the early sell-off and later bettered last night's closing prices. Steel stocks were laggard.

Wheat was the weak spot in commodities, losing more than a cent a bushel but this failed to influence the market. Bonds were irregular.

Rails Stiffen Stock Market

Resumption Of Advance In Market Today After Reactionary Tone In First Hour

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 29.—The rails stiffened the stock market today and brought about resumption of the advance after a reactionary tone in the first hour.

Prices spurted from 1 to 4 points above last night's close and large blocks of stock were taken at advance levels.

Railroad shares were the outstanding performers. N. Y. Central rose more than 2 points in huge dealings. Many low-priced issues like Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio advance 1 to 2 points while the more spectacular group, including Atchison, Union Pacific and Delaware & Hudson, jumped 2 to 4 points.

American Telephone advanced 2 points while Consolidated Gas did as well. Allied Chemical spurted 3 points. American Can and U. S. Steel Common were inclined to lag but Steel Preferred spurted a couple of points.

The market ignored the reactionary tone in wheat. Other commodities were higher and bonds improved.

Stocks opened 1 to 2 points lower on heavy profit-taking. The rails were taken in hand about noon and the biggest gains were scored in the early afternoon.

Alcohol stocks were pushed to new highs for the advance on reversal of their earnings over a year ago. Oil shares improved fractionally under the leadership of Standard of New Jersey.

Bethlehem Steel preferred recovered a 3 point loss. Utilities were all strong with the low-priced group in demand. General Motors went to a new high for the move. Auburn was sluggish. American Tobacco B spurted 2 points on further short covering, carrying the other tobacco shares along.

REGAINS SIGHT BY ARTIFICIAL PUPIL

(International News Service)

HARLINGEN, Texas, July 29.—Although completely blind for eight years as the result of an accident, Victor Rodriguez has regained sight in one eye following a delicate operation, consisting of the grafting of an artificial pupil into the eye.

Physicians here declared it one of the few operations of its kind ever performed. Dr. J. D. Carroll of Harlingen, who performed the operation, is now perfecting a new type instrument which he thinks will make this type of operation much easier.

RENO FOR MARRIAGE; HOME FOR DIVORCE

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Reversing the usual custom, Mrs. Margaret Forrest, the 22-year-old girl who rode to Reno, Nev., a year ago on a motorcycle to get married, has obtained a divorce from her husband, Paul, 27, in Cleveland.

The action was uncontested. A short time after her marriage, Mrs. Forrest sued her husband's parents for alienation of affections and won a $15,000 verdict. She charged they treated her like a "house maid."

HE'LL LEND BILLIONS FOR U. S.

Atlee Pomerene, new chairman of Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

HIGH SPOTS IN LIFE OF ATLEE POMERENE

Here are some highlights in the life of Atlee Pomerene, Democrat, named by President Hoover as chairman of the powerful Reconstruction Finance Corporation:

He is 69, a member of one of the largest law firms in Cleveland.

He began practicing law in his home city of Canton, O., in 1836, and soon after became city solicitor and prosecuting attorney. Then, in 1910, was elected lieutenant governor of Ohio, and won a special election for U. S. senator only two months later.

Served 12 years in the United States senate; defeated in 1922 election, thus retiring in 1923. Moved from Canton, O., to Cleveland, metropolis of Ohio.

For the past eight years was joint counsel for the United States government in the prosecution of oil fraud cases. He was associated in this work with Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, who President Hoover named to the U. S. supreme court, in 1930.

He placed the name of Governor George White into nomination at the Democratic national convention and refused to switch to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York even on the fourth ballot, when Roosevelt supporters desired to make his nomination unanimous.

He himself was backed by Ohio for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

State Leads In School Guidance

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 29. — How Pennsylvania has taken the lead in the development of guidance in public schools was disclosed in reports submitted today to Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction by the curriculum bureau of the department.

Eleven years ago Pennsylvania had no organized state guidance program for its public school children, it was pointed out, while today 59 counties have guidance programs under way. More than 800 teachers, representing almost as many secondary schools, have been assigned to definite counseling on an extra-curricular, part, or full-time basis. Twenty-one Pennsylvania colleges and universities now offer general introductory courses in guidance.

Following Pennsylvania's lead in recent years, departments of education in 40 other states have appointed representatives to work with the national committee which has its headquarters in Washington. Nearly half of these states now have some plan or program for state guidance service.

According to Dr. Rule, some of the effects of the guidance program in Pennsylvania public schools have been more students in school for longer periods; making it possible for many more to prepare for college and lend material help to those who have not gone to college; in most cases, by helping boys and girls to find themselves, it has reduced failures to a minimum, and by assistance in the selection of vocations has paid well for the effort expended.

Harold L. Holebrook, assistant director in charge of guidance for the department, has been granted a year's leave of absence for the purpose of teaching in the summer session at the Pennsylvania State College, and to do research work for the next college year at Yale University.

Nurmi Barred From Olympics By Committee

Finland's "Phantom Ghost" Runner Will Not Be Allowed To Compete In Games

FINLAND FANS ARE UP IN ARMS

By TED SMITS
International News Service Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, July 29—Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, the greatest distance runner the world has ever known, will not run in the games of the tenth Olympiad here next week.

Finnish Athletic authorities, embittered by this decision of the international amateur athletic federation, met in secret session today to consider withdrawing their team from the games. Possibility of this action seemed slight, however.

Case Is Settled

The decision to bar the incomparable 'phantom" of the cinders did not go into the question of whether he was a professional or an amateur, but merely rejected his entry in the games.

"The 'Nurmi case' has been definitely settled," said J. S. Edstrom of Sweden, president of the I. A. A. F. in making his announcement.

"The question will not come before the congress of the federation which meets today."

"Expense accounts," turned in by Nurmi during a recent barnstorming jaunt in Germany led to his disbarment from the games, it was said. Nurmi is already under suspension by the I. A. A. F. but the decision to reject his entry in the games was quite apart from this.

Finland Protests

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 29—The Finnish Press and Finnish Athletic organizations, irate over the decision of the international amateur athletic federation to bar Paavo Nurmi, ace of Finland's Olympic team, from this year's games at Los Angeles, today launched a campaign to have the entire Finnish team quit the Olympics.

The Press, almost as a whole, demanded that all the Finnish athletes immediately pack up and return home.

GENERAL REPORTS IN THREE WORDS

(International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., July 29.—War department officials, accustomed to receiving from corps area commanders annual reports that sometimes run into hundreds of pages, were no doubt surprised when the report of Major Johnson Hagood of the seventh corps area headquarters here, reached Washington.

It contained three words: "Nothing to report."

"I believe in strict economy of time, space and paper," said the general. "When there is nothing to say, I am not going to waste pages explaining so."

CHILDREN GAIN AT SUMMER CAMP

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Some 800 school children who spent two weeks at Camp Happy, maintained by the Philadelphia Department of Welfare at Torresdale, gained a total of 2,575 pounds. The average gain was 3.219 pounds.

Mary Bullock, 13-year-old Negro girl, gained 13¾ pounds during her two weeks' stay.

Ape-Man Reported By Clarion People

Many Claim To Have Seen Youth Swinging In Trees Near City

(International News Service)

CLARION, Pa., July 29.—Tales of Tarzan, mythical wild man, have been revived here.

Scores of residents have reported seeing a young man, devoid of clothing except for a pair of shabby shoes and a 'kerchief about his neck, who skims through the tree tops and rushes through the woods with incredible speed.

Upon being approached by anyone, the man immediately swings himself up into a tree and disappears. He apparently disdains the punishment he received from thorns, briars, and brambles.

When his presence was first reported here, it was thought he existed only in the fantastic imagination of adolescents, but adult residents have reported seeing him. How he survives the elements and what he eats, remain the mystery.

Authorities are inclined to believe the "wild man" is probably a demented individual who has escaped from an asylum in the vicinity.

Building Program Is Planned For Germany

(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 29.—Approximately 300,000 dwellings will be constructed annually in Germany, if plans now under study by building authorities are executed, according to a report from Trade Commissioner Thomas Butts, Berlin.

No construction is needed in industry, it is generally conceded, the report stated, as there is believed to be a large excess of industrial plant construction as well as equipment.

Unemployment in the building industry, which is now at a peak of 90 per cent, will probably be increased during the coming year, the report also stated. Workmen in the construction field were employed only an average of 26 weeks in 1930; and in 1931, an average of 16 weeks.

Resign? Who? Me?

Apparently in excellent physical condition, Andrew W. Mellon, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, is shown as he arrived at New York aboard the S.S. Majestic for a vacation. Mellon refused to discuss the international debt question or economic conditions. Asked about the rumor that he was resigning, the Ambassador, surprised, said there was no truth in the report.

Olympics Will Bring Million To Los Angeles

Estimate That Nearly 1,750,000 Will View Tenth Olympiad Games

RECEIPTS WILL BE TWO MILLION

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, July 29. — The lowly shepherd may be wending his homeward way, but everybody else seems to be headed in this direction for the ceremonies incident to the lifting of the lid tomorrow off this tenth modern Olympiad.

Trains, autos and aeroplanes are pumping passengers through the travel arteries that lead into this metropolis and there will be a mingling of tens of thousands of aliens with countless thousands of homelanders in the mighty Olympic Stadium.

City Is Excited

The city has gone festive. Flags of the different nations are draped here, there and everywhere; they flutter from mastheads; snap in the breezes from lines stretched across the main thoroughfare; they are pleated against the walls and over the entrances to the chief hotels and the main buildings in Los Angeles.

All is gay and the holiday spirit is rampant.

The Vice President of the United States is chugging this way; governors, United States senators, mayors and the wealthy and the aristocratic of the nation will be here to pay homage to the Olympic athletes. It has been 24 years since an Olympiad has been staged within the confines of this nation; it may be 50 more before the spectacle is repeated. None who has the opportunity wish to ignore this battle for athletic fame.

The famous song "California Here I Come" has been altered to read "Los Angeles, We're On Our Way."

The estimate that between 1,250,000 and 1,500,000 would see the different games that will make up the program from July 30th to August 14th now seems rather conservative. There has been a last minute rush, an eleventh hour demand, which may zoom the admissions to something close to 1,750,000 and send the receipts to close to $2,000,000.

Greater Faith Is Need Of Present Generation Declares Dr. Bennett

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, on the square, in a sermon given recently in his church delivered a most excellent sermon on "The Antidote for Fear," which is most timely in these times of economic and spiritual depression.

In part, he said:

In the eighth chapter of Matthew, twenty-sixth verse, are the words, "And He saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little Faith?" These words are taken from the incident of Jesus stilling the tempest. He was with His disciples in a boat on the Sea of Galilee. While Jesus slept a severe storm arose and apparently threatened to destroy the boat. The Apostles becoming very much alarmed awakened Jesus with the question "Master carest thou not that we perish?" It was then as Jesus stilled the tempest that He said to His alarmed companions, "Why are ye so fearful, O ye of little faith?" Thus in these words Jesus recognizes the fact that fear is due to a lack of faith.

There is no doubt about the influence of fear in the history of mankind. In every age since the dawn of history the spectre of fear has tormented the souls of men and has resulted in many tragedies. Men have feared the unusual and mysterious things that come into our experience such as severe storms, earthquakes and other like calamities. National and international crisis have also brought their share of fear. Then, too, into our own personal experiences of sorrow, illness, disappointment and loss there has frequently come this experience of fear to take possession of our souls. According to some recent statistics this past year saw about the largest number of suicides in the history of the country and there is no question about the fact that many of these tragedies are caused through this fear to face the future.

Among the fears most common today are: first, the fear for the destiny of the nation. This fear has been caused by the terrible economic condition through which we are passing. The uncertainty of our political situation and the apparent lack of any great individual to lead us out of the chaos of today have also had their share in creating a spirit of pessimism throughout the country.

Another fear that is being expressed today is the fear for the destiny of the church. There is no question about the fact but that the church is passing through one of the greatest crisis in its history. The economic strain is being felt just as severely here as in other places. Then, too, there never has been a period in the history of Christianity when there were so many things to distract people from the church as there are today. We have become so possessed with worry over material things that the spiritual side of our life is being neglected. No doubt these same fears for the destiny of the nation have also taken possession of many of the followers of Jesus Christ and have resulted in this same experience of pessimism for the future of the church.

Among the worst fears of today, however, are those concerning our own future. There is no doubt but that almost every one of us has in some way felt the effects of this present crisis.

Business failures and various other financial losses have brought very severe disappointments to many of us. Unemployment and its consequent distresses have also brought to a large number a fear for their own future. To many of us personal sorrow caused by the loss of some of our loved ones without whose companionship and counsel we feel almost afraid to live on in this world. So, wherever we may turn we find that the experience of fear seems to have possessed the human heart. If Jesus were here today He probably would say to us as He said to His own little group of friends years ago, "Why are ye so fearful, O ye of little faith"?

One of the most important questions that concerns us today is as to whether or not there is any hope left to which we may cling. Is there an antidote of fear? There is. According to the words of Jesus that we have quoted in our text faith is the greatest antidote of fear. We are told in the Scriptures that without faith it is impossible to please God and I should like to add that for most of us, without faith, life would hardly be worth the living in these days of stress and anxiety.

We certainly need more faith in our government. We all believe that the principles upon which this country was established met with Divine approval and the ideals of democracy and unselfish service for humanity for which the nation has always stood must be ultimately successful. We all know, of course, that our government is not perfect by any means but notwithstanding all of its weaknesses where is there another that is better? This country has passed through greater crisis than we are facing today and has lived through them. This great government is not yet ready to disintergrate but instead will eventually come through this furnace affliction stronger for its testing. The clouds of political and economic unrest must eventually disappear when again the sun of happiness and contentment will appear.

We also need today a greater faith in the church of our Lord Jesus Christ. We have already mentioned that the church is being sorely tested today and while I admit that this present crisis is one of the greatest in its history, yet I feel sure that the church has passed through greater crisis than this. If we believe that the church is the product of the will of God and is founded upon the Sonship of Jesus then as Christians we know that it must live. No institution has been any more bitterly assailed or persecuted, no other institution has manifested so many weaknesses and yet has lived on through the centuries, as the church. There is only one solution to this experience and that is that the church has met with the approval of God and as long as God lives the church will live. Here again we believe that the present struggle through which the church is passing will work out for it a "far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

In conclusion, one of the greatest needs for every one of us is a more vital faith in a living God. As long as we believe that God is in His heavens all must eventually be well with His world. With a stronger faith in Him a new hope must be the inevitable result. These days are dark enough for most of us but terrible indeed must they be for those who have no religious faith to sustain them in their experiences of fear. It was the Apostle John who said "this is the victory that overcometh the world even our faith". It is possible then to overcome fear but faith is the greatest means by which this fear can be overcome. "Why are ye so fearful, O ye of little faith"?

RELIEF BOARD HEAD IS CHOSEN

Utica Man Named By President Hoover To Take Dawes' Place

WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Hoover on Thursday completed the reorganization of the $3,800,000,000 Reconstruction Corporation, naming Charles A. Miller, banker and lawyer of Utica, N. Y., as the seventh member of its board of directors.

Miller, a Republican, will be elected president of the corporation, filling the post left by Charles G. Dawes. Announcement of this choice followed a meeting between the President and the corportion directors in the cabinet room of the White House.

Present in addition to the President and Miller was Altee Pomerene, Ohio Democrat, whose recent appointment to the corporation's directorate threw nominal control of the board away from the Republican members. Pomerene will be named chairman.

The conferees as they left the White House would say nothing except that the election of Pomerene to the chairmanship of the board, as forecast by Mr. Hoover, had not yet taken place.

Miller, 64, is president of the Utica Savings Bank. After graduating from Harvard in 1890 he was admitted to the bar in Utica and later was chosen vice president of the New York State Association.
